Barry's Mate Opens Campaign

Miller Says Humphrey Radical in Congress

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller, formally opening his campaign for the vice presidency, charged today that Democratic vice-presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey has a record that is "clearly one of the most radical in Congress."

In his prepared text, Miller devoted much of his speech to an attack on Humphrey's connection with Americans for Democratic Action, which he termed "unquestionably the most influential organization in our nation's capitol attempting to subvert and transform our government into a foreign socialistic totalitarianism."

Humphrey was one of the founders of ADA, which backs what it considers liberal causes. He served as its chairman in 1949-50 and has been a vice chairman since then.

Goldwater to Appear

Presidential nominee Barry Goldwater headed the list of Republicans invited to this western New York city for the hometown kick off of Miller's campaign.

Goldwater was to make a 3,800-mile roundtrip flight from Phoenix, Ariz., to appear with Miller. He was to return to his home in Phoenix afterwards.

Miller quoted President Johnson's statement that Humphrey is "the best man in America" to be vice president and added: "If Hubert Humphrey, with the program he advocates and supports is the 'best man,' then Lyndon Johnson is the 'worst.'"

Miller said that during Humphrey's 15 years in the Senate, "he has voted the official ADA line on 191 occasions and has bolted on only three occasions."

Explains ADA

He said the ADA advocates "diplomatic recognition of Red China," "the admission of Red China to the United Nations," "a total abandonment of the Panama Canal," "that we recognize the permanence and legitimacy of communism in East Germany," "that we readmit Cuba to the Organization of American States and welcome (Cuban Premier Fidel) Castro into the Alliance for Progress" and "that we must repeal every single piece of internal security legislation" and "abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities."

Hammers on Crime

Miller said the Johnson-Humphrey ticket "advocates programs which would repeal our great American history."

Like Goldwater, he hammered at the "crime in the streets" issue.

As he prepared to start his campaign, Miller promised Republicans it marked "the beginning of the most vigorous vice-presidential campaign in history."

In a statement issued Friday on the eve of his return for a giant kickoff rally, Miller said, "I am proud to be opening my campaign for the vice presidency in my hometown, Lockport, N.Y., because this city, steeped in tradition and principle, so well symbolizes the values for which Barry Goldwater and I are campaigning."

It was Miller's big day and he was main speaker for the rally, with Goldwater listed for brief remarks.

Roles Reversed

The roles of the principals were reversed from Thursday, when Goldwater launched his campaign at Prescott, Ariz., with a major address, while Miller spoke briefly.

Miller, 50, was born here, went through high school in Lockport and returned to practice law after leaving for col-

580 Might Meet Death on Roads Over Labor Day

Holiday motorists have been issued a special warning to drive carefully over Labor Day weekend by officials in the Kingston Police, Ulster County Sheriff, New York State Police and State Thruway departments.

According to a report by the Associated Press, holiday deaths mounted slowly today as the Labor Day weekend got in full swing.

With less than a full day gone, 39 persons had died on the nation's highways. But the National Safety Council warned that the holiday's first 24 hours are the most dangerous. The council estimated that 490 to 580 traffic deaths would occur between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday (local times).

A majority of the nation's 83 million motor vehicles are expected to log about 8.6 billion miles during the period, the council estimated.

A year ago, 557 traffic deaths were a record for Labor Day. The lowest recorded toll for the weekend was 246 in 1946.

An Associated Press comparative survey on a recent non-holiday weekend counted 506 deaths — 456 in traffic, 20 in boating accidents and 30 in drownings.

Drownings and boating accidents tend to decrease during Labor Day holidays than over periods when the weather is warmer.

No Freeman On Monday

There will be no publication of The Kingston Daily Freeman Monday, September 7 in observance of the Labor Day holiday.

Welcome Keating At Resorts in Ellenville Area

ELLENVILLE, N.Y. (AP)— Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating campaigned for re-election into the early morning hours today in hotel lobbies, dining rooms and night clubs in Catskill Mountain resorts.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee, was among the party leaders who greeted Senator Keating upon his arrival at the Nevele Hotel in Ellenville on Friday.

He got a polite, friendly reception from largely Jewish crowds here for the Labor Day weekend and the start of the Jewish New Year. At one night club show, about midnight, Keating got a short standing ovation from about 500 persons.

No Mention of RFK

Keating did not mention his opponent, Democrat Robert F. Kennedy, who will be in the same area today. Both men are scheduled to present trophies at harness races in nearby Monticello tonight.

On two occasions Keating was introduced to audiences by different emcees in identical words: "A real New Yorker."

Keating's biggest issue so far has been that Kennedy, from Massachusetts via Washington, is a "carpetbagger" unfamiliar with New York State.

Israel's Friend

In both introductions Keating also was referred to "the man who fought for Israel's freedom." Keating in two non-political speeches used brief phrases in both Hebrew and Yiddish.

He shook every hand available, made a point of greeting waiters and kitchen help, ate matzoh ball soup and gefulte fish, signed autographs and had his picture taken with children.

Keating wore in his coat lapel a tiny legion of merit with oak leaf cluster. To a reporter who asked him about it, the senator said he never discussed his war record.

Assemblyman Wilson was accompanied on his trip to Kerhonkson-Ellenvile area by Mrs. William Krum, president of the Ulster County Republican Women's Club, Mrs. Josef Knubben, treasurer of the club, Ted Fee-

Ulster College Expecting 200 Freshmen, Opens 21st

Ulster County Community College, opening for its second year Sept. 21, is expected to have an enrollment of some 360, with the freshman class expected to be over 200, it was announced today.

It will offer 160 courses and sections, plus two-year degree programs in 11 different schedules of study. Offerings are greatly expanded over last year, due, in part to the fact that many of last year's full time students will be returning as sophomores in addition to the freshman class of some 200.

Two new degree programs, mechanical technology and medical laboratory technology will be started.

Another factor contributing to the expansion in offerings is the expected increase in the number of citizens who will be attending the College on a part-time basis during the day and evening hours. In addition to basic courses, new courses in literature, business, insurance, languages, sciences, social sciences, mathmetics, art and music, will be introduced.

Information concerning Fall semester courses or admission to the College on a full or part-time basis may be obtained by telephoning or visiting the Admissions Office at the College, 214 West Chestnut Street, Kingston, which is open weekdays and Monday through Thursday evenings.

Returning full-time students will register for classes at the College on Sept. 17th and will be notified of details by mail.

New full-time students will register on Sept. 18th according to the schedule provided them at their programming interviews.

Part-time students may register on Sept. 16 or 17 between the hours of 6 and 8:30 p. m. at the college.

Most of the night classes start at 7 p. m. and end at 9:40. One starts as early at 6:30 and ends at 8:10, and another starts at 8:10 and ends at 9:55. A few extend to 10 and 10:30.

Hearing Reveals Little New on Students in Cuba

QUIZZED ON CUBA—Pictured in Washington after returning from an unauthorized trip to Cuba, these four young people appear before the House Un-American Committee. Two days of similar hearings last year resulted in a wild melee. Left to right, Yvonne Bond, San Francisco; Morton Slater and Edward Lemansky of New York City and Albert Maher, Houston, Tex. Violence, Harangues Break Out

Answers Are Same As Heard Before

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities has completed two days of hearings that produced a spurt of violence, endless harangues and very little new information about student travel to Cuba.

The committee's work is not done. It still has to question a witness who was hospitalized after a follower of the American Nazi party had attacked him despite the host of police and marshals in the big committee room.

The United States does not recognize Cuba and prohibits all but officially sanctioned travel to the Communist-governed island.

Three Repeat Answers

So far the committee has interrogated a participant, the leader and an organizer of the trip that 84 young people made to Cuba this summer, defying a ban by the State Department.

All three repeated the same things they had said many times before in news conferences in Havana, New York and elsewhere and continually refused to say much else.

When asked to discuss the intricacies of the trip's financing, their own personal finances, or the part other people played in the trip, each witness invoked the 5th Amendment to the Constitution which provides protection against possibly self-incriminating testimony.

On one occasion Friday, however, Albert Maher, 22, of Houston, who the committee said had been described as a millionaire's son, dropped the 5th Amendment protection to answer one question about his personal finances.

Ridiculous, He Says

Rep. George F. Senner, D-Ariz.,asked the young man if he had contributed any money to incite a street riot after the passage of the civil rights bill.

"That's a ridiculous question," Maher said, "just like this committee. The answer is no, but I consider this an insulting question."

Maher, who said he was a member of the executive board of the Student Trip To Cuba Committee and had taken part in a similar excursion last summer, denied he was either a member of the Communist party or the Progressive Labor Movement. The committee says the Progressive Labor Movement is an offshoot of the Communist party but tends to follow the Chinese Communist line rather than that of the Soviet Union.

Slater Attacked

The committee has set no date for resumption of the hearings, when it will call Morton B. Slater, 21, of New York.

Slater was on the stand Thursday when a follower of the American Nazi party leaped upon the witness stand and attacked him. Slater was hospitalized for medical observation and could not appear at Friday's hearing.

New Riots Flaring, War Close

Southeast Asian Strife Increases

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — New race rioting flared in Singapore today as Malaysia and Indonesia moved closer to open war.

The rioting, blamed by some Malaysian officials on Indonesian agents, has left nine dead.

The king of Malaysia signed a decree today which proclaimed the entire country a national "security area." The decree permits local authorities to impose curfews and ban unlawful assembly and gives police sweeping powers.

Vows 'Crush'

In Indonesia, President Sukarno, who has vowed to "crush" Malaysia, held another emergency meeting with his top advisers. The official Indonesian news agency Antara said he will make an important announcement soon about the "present critical situation."

A special meeting of the U.N. Security Council will be held in New York next Wednesday to consider Malaysia's charges that Indonesia is committing aggression against the federation. Malaysia has accused Indonesia of backing recent smallscale invasion attempts.

State of Alert

Indonesia's armed forces have been placed on a state of alert.

3 Persons Hurt In Auto Mishap Near New Paltz

Three persons were injured at 3:20 a. m. today as the result of a two-car collision which occurred on the Lake Mohonk Road, New Paltz.

State Police Sergeant E. E. Winkky, Highland, said the vehicles were driven by Francis L. Romagnolo, 20, of 1982 Cruger Avenue, New York City, and Vito Bianchini, 31, of 2040 Black Rock Road, the Bronx.

Romagnolo reportedly lost control of his car on a curve and the vehicle went off the south side and spun around coming to a stop in the center of the highway. Bianchini, troopers said, tried to avoid the other vehicle but his car left the road and crashed into a tree.

Injured were Romagnolo, who sustained scalp lacerations; Bianchini, lacerated nose, and Margaret Mollaboni, 19, of 3844 E. Tremont Avenue, the Bronx, who received a scalp laceration. The injured were treated at the scene by a physician.

Highland troopers also investigated a one-car mishap on Route 9W south of the traffic circle at 5:30 p. m. Friday. William Forrest, 57, of 101 Ray Boulevard, Poughkeepsie, told authorities he was driving south when he fell asleep and his car left the highway. He was not injured.

3 Campers Face Grand Jurors in Narcotics Case

Three campers in a wooded area at Woodstock were taken into custody early today by town police and a state trooper, after they were allegedly found in possession of hypodermic articles and a bag containing vegetable matter believed to be marijuana.

Trooper Robert Mackey of the Kingston sub-station, said Police Chief Clarence Snyder, Constables Robert Reynolds and Warren Graver with BCI Investigator Joseph Ventriglia investigated a complaint at 2 a. m.

Police went to Apple Rock in a wooded section of Woodstock, and found two youths, a young woman and a 14-year-old girl camping. Trooper Mackey said as the authorities approached, one of the youths identified as Michael McKevitt, 22, of 144-03 Barclay Avenue, Flushing, threw a brown paper bag into the woods.

Contents of Bag

Troopers stated that an inspection of the contents of the bag disclosed a quantity of marijuana, a hypodermic syringe, a hypodermic needle and an eye dropper with a needle attached.

Charged with possession of the articles and alleged marijuana were, McKevitt; Carol Chareonneau, 20, of 109 March Drive, Whiteman's Air Force Base, Missouri, and Robert Zaidman, 19, of 152-72 Melbourne Avenue, Flushing.

Authorities said the juvenile was detained, but not booked.

The other three campers were taken before Justice of the Peace Rudolph Baumgarten, Town of Woodstock. They waived preliminary examination and were committed to the Ulster county jail to await action of the grand jury.

The defendants were specially booked on two charges, possessing narcotics (marijuana) and possessing hypodermic needles and syringe.

Still Face Federal Charges

2 Whites Acquitted In Educator's Death

DANIELSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Two white men have been acquitted in the night-rider slaying of Washington, D.C., Negro educator Lemuel Penn. However, they still face federal conspiracy charges under the new civil rights law.

Joseph Howard Sims, 41, and Cecil William Myers, 25, heard the verdict Friday night after a jury of white men deliberated slightly more than three hours.

A gasp and murmur arose from relatives and friends. Superior Court Judge Cary Skelton rapped for order. Relatives of the two men wept. Sims and Myers hugged their wives. They were surrounded by well-wishers.

Linked to Klan

Sims and Myers, whom the FBI identified as Ku Klux Klansmen, still face federal charges of conspiring to injure, oppress, threaten and intimidate Penn and two companions.

Penn was killed July 11 by a shotgun blast fired from a passing car. Penn, an Army Reserve lieutenant colonel, and two other Negro officers were en route home to Washington from reserve duty at Ft. Benning, Ga.

The state contended the killing was a senseless deed.

Sims and Myers will remain in custody of the Madison County sheriff until they can be turned over to federal officers. Both are under bonds of $25,000.

The maximum penalty on the federal charge in addition to the

Dutchess Man Is Killed, 3 Are Hurt in Area Mishaps

A 27-year-old Dutchess County man was killed shortly before 2 p m. Friday when his motorcycle collided with an automobile on a Hyde Park highway, and three persons were injured in other area mishaps.

The death was Dutchess county's 33rd traffic fatality of 1964.

Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan said the victim was George William Doran, 26, of Route 9G, Hyde Park, whose motorcycle collided with a car driven by Joseph Connors, 27, of 74 Violet Avenue, Town of Hyde Park.

Doran was pronounced dead at the scene by a physician from St. Francis' Hospital.

According to the sheriff's office, Connors was driving a 1960 car south on Violet Avenue, and Doran was traveling north in the southbound lane when the crash occurred. Connors told deputy sheriffs he saw the motorcycle approaching and swerved in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid a collision.

Doran was thrown several feet off the motorcycle by the impact.

A 14-year-old Woodstock boy was injured at 5 p. m. Friday when his bicycle was in collision with a car on Route 212, Town of Woodstock

Trooper Robert Mackey of Kingston sub-station, said Lloyd Miller, of 10 Orchard Lane, Woodstock, was riding his bicycle east on the highway when it was in collision with a vehicle operated by Oscar Krasner, 48, of 790 Riverside Drive, New York City.

The boy, Trooper Norman Kilfoyle reported, was thrown to the pavement. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's ambulance and treated for lacerations of the right leg and abrasions.

Troopers reported Krasner was turning from Route 212 into the Grand Union parking lot at the time of the mishap.

Two pedestrians were injured at 3:15 a. m. today when they were struck by an automobile on Route 23 at Leeds.

State police reported Solomon Burkley, 48, of Richmond Hills, was driving his car west on the highway when he approached a crowd of people. Two men, troopers said, apparently ran in the path of the vehicle and both were hit.

The injured were Ronald Bogardus, 23, of Catskill, and James Hyer Jr., 29, of Athens. Both were taken to the Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill. Bogardus was treated for a sprained right shoulder and released. Hyer suffered a possible fractured left leg. He was admitted for further treatment and X-ray.

Bars Brayton Statement, Murder Trial Starts 9th

Surrogate Judge Francis X. Tucker has ruled that the statement made and signed by Charles Black, also known as Charles Brayton, at police headquarters following his arrest and charge of murder on June 28, 1959, cannot be offered in evidence on trial of the case.

Judge Tucker set the case down for trial beginning Wednesday, Sept. 9, at 10 a. m.

Black, charged with the shooting of Miss Mildred Steger at her Cottage Row apartment on June 27, 1959, was indicted on a first degree murder charge by a grand jury.

A motion was made by Alice Van Veem, New York attorney for Black, with Henry Rothblatt of New York of counsel, to suppress the admission of a statement made by Black at the trial. It was contended the statement was made prior to Black's having counsel and without being advised of his rights to be represented by counsel or informed that he need not make any statement and that any statement which he may make could be used against him in a criminal action.

Black was later adjudged incompetent to present a defense to the murder charge and was committed to Matteawan State Hospital where he remained four years before being adjudged sufficiently recovered to understand and make a defense to the charge.

The case has been on the

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

"Three things are necessary for the salvation of man: to know what he ought to believe; to know what he ought to desire; and to know what he ought to do." —St. Thomas Aquinas

St. Thomas Aquinas would never have become the great theologian and philosopher of the Middle Ages had he not lived by that which he wrote. Born in 1225 into a noble family in southern Italy, he studied at the University of Naples and there came to know the Dominicans, a newly founded order of preachers and teachers. So impressed was he with their work that he himself became a Dominican, to the horror of relatives who thought it a disgrace for the son of a nobleman to wear the habit of a poor friar.

His mother and sisters tried to dissuade him, and his brothers took even more forceful methods. They abducted him and took him to the family castle where he was stripped of his habit and imprisoned in a tower for almost two years. They even sent a beautiful girl to destroy his virtue.

His sisters, finally realizing their efforts were in vain, helped Thomas escape by lowering him from the tower in a basket to waiting Dominican monks who escorted him to safety. Going to Paris, he became a great scholar and a man dedicated to the love of God and the eternal search for the divine truth.

Dilemma in Reverse

Religion in Schools Issue Worries Church of England

By GODFREY ANDERSON

LONDON (AP) — A move to take religious teaching out of Britain's schools has some Church of England people worried. They feel many parents just can't be trusted to see that their children are taught religion at all.

The teaching of scripture and a daily act of worship is compulsory in both state and private schools under the Education Act of 1944. Each child must have a minimum of one period of religious instruction each week. And, because the Church of England is the state-established church, the teaching usually conforms with Anglican theology except in cases such as Roman Catholic schools.

Some Ignore Teaching

While Britain's expensive and exclusive private schools long have had staff clergy to act as chaplains and teach religion, most state schools keep the scripture period to the strict minimum; others just ignore it.

Schools up and down the land start their day with a hymn or two and a prayer, but this — as Anglican writer Eric Russell has described it — is a formality "to serve only as a necessary introduction to the more important business of the sports results, and the occasional appeal for a good home for three white mice no longer of use in the biology department."

Called Formal Hypocrisy

"Grace before meals," the same writer has observed, "is also treated as formal hypocrisy and one pupil has been heard to offer a revised version of a familiar prayer: 'For what we are about to receive, may the Lord have mercy upon us."

However, a recent survey by the Institute of Christian Education disclosed strong majority support for continued religious teaching.

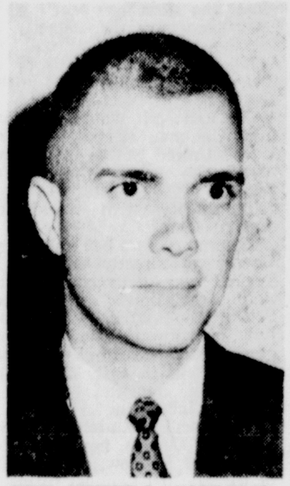

Some teachers have written to the papers to say that they consider the daily act of worship a farce and the teaching of scripture largely ineffective. Others argue it is wrong to teach a child a specific religious faith.

The Church of England paper, editorially bewailing the desperate shortage of Christian teachers in Britain, commented:

Cites U. S. Example

"The U.S.A. has an interesting case. It could be called Christian in a far more real sense than Britain; yet it insists that no religion is taught in schools. This gives a big impetus to the local churches and their Bible classes. Would the same thing happen here if scripture teaching were taken out of the schools? It is very doubtful. Parents, who would shoulder most of the responsibility for seeing that their children hear the teaching of the faith, have shown very little indication that they would collaborate effectively. And where would the teachers come from?"

Stone Ridge Area Methodist Parish Gets New Pastor

REV. BRUCE L. CARLSON

The new pastor of the Stone Ridge Methodist Parish arrived recently to assume duties at Accord, Kripplebush and Stone Ridge churches. He is the Rev. Bruce L. Carlson.

The Rev. Mr. Carlson was asked to come to this appointment by the three churches last May but because of previous commitments, his appointment by the resident bishop of the New York Area, Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, did not become effective until the latter part of August.

The Rev. Mr. Carlson received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Garrett Theological Seminary at Northwestern University this last June. He also holds the Bachelor of Arts degree from Elmhurst College, Elmhurst, Ill. During his three years in seminary, the Rev. Mr. Carlson served as the minister to youth and associate pastor of the Christ Methodist Church of Elmhurst. He was also quite active during this time in District and Conference youth work.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Carlson have been living in Evanston, Ill., where the seminary is located. Mr. Carlson's home more recently was in the Chicago area, however, he spent much of his childhood and youth in western New York. Mrs. Carlson's home is near Philadelphia. Mrs. Carlson is also a graduate of Elmhurst College and has taught first grade for two years.

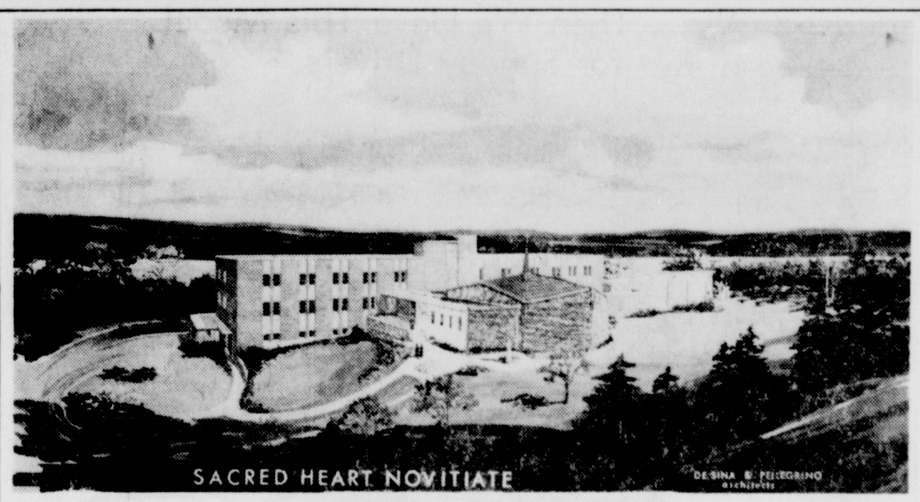

Special Program Planned Here by Nazarene Church

A special program of pictures of the Holy Land will be presented Wednesday 7:30 p. m. at the First Church of the Nazarene, Elmendorf Street and Wiltwyck Avenue.

The Rev. Alec Wachtel, pastor of the Nazarene Church in Jerusalem, will show slides and discuss the work of the denomination in that country. He will soon return to Jerusalem for five years after spending a year in this country.

The Rev. Thomas Younce, host pastor, invites the public to attend the educational program.

Last Sunday during morning worship services eight new members were accepted into the church. They are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O'Dell Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller, Mrs. Florence Koyon, Mrs. Faye Kelly, John Chrispell and Dale Natoli.

NEW NOVITIATE AT WEST PARK

Construction Is Started on New Convent Building

Construction started this week on a $1,353,000 Sacred Heart Novitiate building on the grounds of the St. Cabrini School, West Park, with fall of 1965 as target date for completion.

The Walter A. Stanley Construction Co. Inc., is the builder of structure designed by DeSina and Pellegrino, New York City architects. Conti & Saunders are the structural engineers and V. L. Faloticoa & Associates are the mechanical engineers.

The building has a total area of 46,600 square feet and will be located directly off the east side of Route 9W, overlooking the Hudson River. It is designed to accommodate 30 postulants and 30 novices on three floors of a fireproof building.

The basement level facilities include a community room, refectory, kitchen, laundry, sewing room, library, classroom, instructor's office, gymnasium, storage areas and mechanical equipment rooms.

Quarters for Novices

The first floor will provide cells and service areas for 30 novices, an infirmary, a special chamber and study suite for the Superior, and a spacious balcony overlooking the Hudson River. Off the main entrance lobby will be two reception parlors, one of which can be utilized as the Superior's office and subdivided by a folding partition into an additional room when necessary. Adjoining the main lobby is an inner lobby leading into a private chapel containing pews for 96 occupants.

The second floor provides cells and service areas for 30 postulants, including an infirmary, balcony overlooking the Hudson River, and an assistant superior's chamber and study suite similar to that on the first floor.

The edifice will have concrete foundations and a steel frame structure faced with brick, limestone, and precast concrete panel trim on the exterior. The chapel framing consists of laminated wood arches covered with wood decking over some exposing the natural wood finish of the interior.

The floor construction will consist of poured concrete corrugated metal forms, finished with resilient flooring in cell rooms and terrazzo or ceramic tile in the other areas.

Interior wall finishes include plaster, ceramic tile, masonry units and wood paneling. Ceilings are finished in plaster and accustical tile.

The roof over the chapel will be covered with copper. The roof over the main building will be a flat poured concrete slab covered with insulation and built-up roofing.

The building will be heated by steam distributed by oil fired boilers. Air conditioning for the chapel, gymansium, community room, sewing room, refectory, classroom and library will be accomplished by chilled water recirculated through cooling towers located on the roof and sub-basement below the gymnasium floor.

New Pastor Assumes Post At 1st Baptist

REV. JAMES A. BRAKER

Frontiers Sever but Roads Unite will be the topic of the Rev. James A. Braker as he begins his pastorate of First Baptist Church, Albany Avenue at Broadway, Sunday morning, Sept. 6, during the regular worship hour.

The Rev. Mr. Braker, formerly of Potsdam, was guest speaker in Kingston June 14 and two weeks later accepted a unanimous call from the uptown church.

Since last October the church has been under the interim pastorate of the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Schmitz of Syracuse who was called following the resignation of the Rev. Harold J. Stephanz who is now pastor of Wollaston Baptist Church of Quincy, Mass.

The Rev. Mr. Braker is married and the father of a daughter, Ann and an adopted son, John Mark. The adoption papers for their son were completed following the visit of the Rev. Mr. Braker and his wife to Kingston early in June.

The former north country minister received his A.B. Degree from Haverford College, Haverford, Pa., in June 1955 and his BD Degree from Colgate-Rochester Divinity School in June of 1958.

Prior to his ministry in the Potsdam Baptist Church he studied for one year at Heidelberg University in Germany and had one course at the University of Maryland Extension School.

He served as chairman of the Christian Education Committee in the St. Lawrence Association, a member of the board of managers and of the Committee of Higher Education of the New York State Baptist Convention.

The new First Baptist minister is a son of a Baptist pastor who is still engaged as a pastor in Pittsburgh, Pa. The Rev. Mr. Braker's grandfather also was a Baptist minister.

The former Potsdam cleric has been president of the Potsdam Ministerial Association, 1960-61 and director of the County Council of Churches in 1961. He also was secretary of the Salvation Army Welfare, a member of Rotary and a former member of the County Citizens Committee.

The Rev. and Mrs. Braker and family, who arrived in Kingston during the third week of August, are now making their home at the Baptist parsonage, 187 Pine Street.

Your Life and Mine

by CLYDE HERBERT SNELL

THE FRAGRANT HAND

Mrs. H. V. Foster has told about how one afternoon, when she was about ten, her mother told her to take a bunch of sweetpeas down the street to an old lady who was crippled and alone. When she returned her mother said to her: "Now smell your hand." She did, and discovered that her hand still smelled like the sweetpeas she had transported to the lonely neighbor.

Then her mother pointed out: "Flowers always leave some of their fragrance in the hand of the giver. It's the way in life too," she added. "Every kind deed or work bestowed on someone else leaves us a sweeter person."

How hard it seems to be for us to learn this lesson. "Most folks," as someone has said, "are on the wrong scent for happiness." They try to track happiness down, and capture it, by concentrating upon meeting their own needs—being careful not to "waste" any effort or substance through attempting to help or cheer someone else. The net result is that life goes rancid. It loses its luster. Such lives wind up ultimately in the dead-end alleys for the very simple reason that it is impossible to provide a deep sense of great meaning and enduring significance in those lives that think only of themselves.

Did you ever meet or know a person who felt cheated because of some errand of mercy he had run or some kindness he had shown? No! And you never will; because these are the things that God has ordained shall give meaning and joy and lasting satisfaction in life.

It is mightily worth noting that the psychiatrists have no magic remedy for the soul emptiness that descends so devastatingly upon those who commit the tragic blunder of living only for themselves. There are no pat mental therapeutics that can be administered to cure the despondencies of the selfish. The only cure anyone ever has discovered is to find a way to get one's self off one's hands. And the simplest way to do that is to identify ourselves with some other mortal's problems. As W. R. Danforth urges: "Catch a passion for helping others and a richer life will come back to you."

So often in the mad rush of these days we overlook, or mistakenly consider trivial and unimportant, the very things that give meaning and provide zest for life. As George Eliot once said: "It is those acts which we call trivialities that the seeds of joy are forever wasted."

The seeds of joy sometimes are very subtle. Often they are housed within the inconspicuous shell of modest duties. Always they are to be found in the accepted challenges of thoughtfulness — even in a bunch of sweetpeas that, delivered in kindness, leaves a trace of fragrance upon the hand that transports them.

NEW SEMINARY ASSOCIATE—Frank Mansell Jr., left, new seminary associate of the Fair Street Reformed Church, is greeted by his predecessor, John T. Ames. Paltz Program Ties In

Ex-Migrant Comes Back As Minister for Council

A former migrant has returned to the fields as a minister for the first time in the history of migrant ministry in New York State.

The Rev. Buck Jones, a 1964 graduate of Yale Divinity School, has been employed by the Suffolk County Council of Churches to serve as minister to migrants and ex-migrants in the Riverhead area on Long Island. As a high school youth, the Rev. Mr. Jones picked crops with a group of Florida migrants in Dutchess County.

In announcing the Rev. Mr. Jones' appointment, the Rev. Charles W. Ackley, director of Migrant Ministry for the New York State Council of Churches, said that to his knowledge this was the first time a former migrant had trained and returned to serve in the migrant ministry in the state.

In keeping with the current trend in migrant ministry, his post will be on a year around basis. Last year the Rev. Vernie L. Bolden was employed on a year-round basis in the Milton area of Ulster County.

The emphasis on an extended ministry is necessitated by the number of migrants who are becoming permanent residents in various areas of the state. Programs to minister to the ex-migrant are underway in northern Steuben County and parts of Niagara County. Orleans and Genesee Counties are considering such ministry for the future.

To supplement and enlarge the State Council ministry, the New Paltz Area Migrant Committee employs a minister during September and October. There are approximately 1800 migrants now assisting with harvest of the fruit crops in southern Ulster.

The Rev. Roger Leonard, assistant pastor at the New Paltz Reformed Church, is chairman of the committee of 15 which carries out the migrant program. There will be on open meeting for all persons interested in the migrant ministry Sept. 20 at 4 p. m. in the Fireside Room of the New Paltz Education Building.

The Rev. Charles Milton who has been working with migrants in Wayne County for the past two months will arrive this week to take over the New Paltz area ministry during the harvest season.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 5, 1964

The Kingston Daily Freeman will not be published Monday, Sept. 7 in observance of the Labor Day holiday.

VIEW AHEAD FOR LABOR

The nation observes Labor Day this year with the shadow of automation clouding the security of the working man.

What is to happen as mechanized equipment increasingly competes with man?

Even though the problem is undeniably real, there would seem to be no great cause for panic.

This isn't the first Labor Day that has found the workers of America wondering just what was in store for them.

There have been violent and deep-rooted labor disputes, long and tragic depressions, ups and downs in the production lines, new and startling innovations in work procedures that for a time threatened to disrupt the security of workers.

One by one, these problems have been met and the economy of the country has been steadily advanced in number of workers, working conditions, gross national product and other barometers of prosperity.

Business as well as labor is fully aware of the problems presented by the advance of automation. The best minds in both those groups and others are giving top priority to the challenge of adjusting to the changing conditions with a minimum of displacement and economic upheaval.

In a country where employe and employer can and do work together, plan together and reason together for the benefit of all concerned, solutions to the problems of 1964 can be expected just as confidently as solutions to the problems of the past.

The problem of automation will be solved. Automation is progress. Progress cannot and should not be delayed or resisted. It must, however, be adapted to the common good. Education, retraining and adjustment of productivity are three of the basic answers to the problem.

On Labor Day 1964 the nation again salutes the working man and thanks him for what he is doing 365 days a year to make this country a stronghold of freedom and a reservoir of hope for a troubled world.

'SCHOOL'S OPEN' CAMPAIGN

From thousands of street poles throughout the metropolitan New York area this month, colorful safety posters will help dramatize the need for added alertness by motorists during the school reopening period.

Perhaps at no other time of the year is this need for motorist caution greater than in the first weeks of September. Several million children make the annual trek back to school. French from vacation, and in their enthusiasm at play, who can be certain that they won't dart into the street after a thrown ball, dash across an intersection to greet a schoolmate, or cross in the middle of the block.

It was to highlight the need for added caution on the part of motorists, especially during the early days of school reopening, that the Automobile Club of New York launched its first "School's Open" campaign in 1964. The program has been conducted every year since then with good results. The success of this effort may be gauged in official statistics which show a reduction in traffic fatalities among children from 5 to 14 years of age in the state since 1945, the year before the first campaign. During the same period, motor vehicle registrations have risen greatly and there has been a correspondingly high increase in school population.

The 22,000 safety posters being displayed at major intersections and school crossings are but part of the AAA's fall safety effort. For the posters will be augmented by 150,000 bumper strips carrying the "School's Open" message to be displayed on public, private and commercial motor vehicles. Then, too, there will be nearly 30,000 AAA-sponsored School Safety Patrol boys and girls stationed at school crossings to assist police and civilian guards.

In true community spirit, local mayors, police and school officials, business leaders, parent-teacher associations, Boy Scouts, and thousands of individual motorists will participate in this year's effort.

"School's Open—Drive Carefully" is a lesson all motorists should learn and learn well. Increased traffic safety, particularly concerning our children, is our never-ending goal.

SOUTHERN ACCENT?

The Encyclopaedia Britannica says the cheetah often attains a speed of 70 miles an hour.

This is no news to anyone who travels streets and highways on which the legal speed limit is below that figure.

The surprising thing is that the Encyclopaedia Britannica would misspell cheater.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

It's a shock to pick up the paper and discover that an able, courteous and utterly non-political economics professor whom you knew in Hartford, Connecticut, in 1959, and had since lost track of, had suddenly emerged as acting leader of the South Vietnam government.

In the spring of 1959 this columnist's daughter Elizabeth wishing to switch from a philosophy major to one in sociology in her college junior year, was told that she must take a make-up summer course in economics. Accordingly she enrolled at Trinity College in Hartford. Her professor was an Oriental who went by the semi-Anglicized name of Jack Oanh (pronounced Oh-an-ah). It turned out that he was a Keynesian, which caused my daughter (ever loyal to her old man) to bristle a bit.

This led to an interesting summer. Jack Oanh—or, to use his Vietnamese name, Dr. Nguyen Xuan Aanh—proved to be one of those rare liberal professors, who, though committed to a definite school of thinking, did not attempt to coerce his students into adopting his point of view. The textbook for his course was M.I.T. Professor Paul A. Samuelson's "Economics: an Introductory Analysis," and the supporting list of readings was contained in a volume, "Readings in Economics," edited by Professors Robert L. Bishop of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, John R. Coleman of Carnegie Tech, and Samuelson. In after-class coffee sessions my daughter took issue with her teacher on the subject of Samuelson's theories about the creativity of government spending. The arguments were always amiable.

I had just written a book called "The Roots of Capitalism," which criticized Keynesian principles in its final chapter. Professor Oanh read it, and asked my daughter to bring me up to Trinity for a talk. I was surprised when he told me that my own view of Keynes was not anathema to himself as a Keynesian.

As I recall our conversation, what "Jack" Oanh said might be synthesized as follows:

Keynes can't be faulted if you take him as an economist pure and simple. What Keynes was saying in the Nineteen Thirties was appropriate to its time and place. Deflation had to be stopped, and the way to do it was to create purchasing power without letting wage rates rise faster than the spending multiple. This would make it profitable for capitalists to invest once more. An unbalanced budget, used to get government-created credit into circulation, would be acceptable for a short period.

But (so "Jack" Oanh went on), the politicians must not give in to the labor leaders too soon in the matter of increasing individual wage rates lest the energizing profit be taken out of the price rise. And the government must finally bring the budget into balance, and cease its own inflationary spending, once a favorable turn to the business cycle had put the unemployed back to work. Keynesian economics dictated higher taxes and a liquidation of national debt in boom times.

My counter to "Jack Oanh's argument was that the politicians could only be trusted to apply Keynes correctly in times of depression. They would never attempt to reverse the government spending engine at the top of a business cycle.

"Well," I remember Oanh saying, "that's no argument against Keynesian economics. That's an argument against politicians."

"Jack" Oanh's exceedingly skeptical words about the genus politico did not at the time suggest any personal ambition to head a government. The only explanation for the professor's return to South Vietnam and his subsequent involvement in politics is that it has been dictated by pure patriotism. The politely reasonable professor who let his students disagree with him provided they could support their differences with cogent arguments should be able to exercise a calming influence on local Vietnamese factions.

That is, he should be able to do this provided there is any reason left in Southeast Asia. If there isn't, Dr. Nguyen Xuan—or "Jack"—Oanh will be a transient phenomenon in his own country. The professor I knew in Hartford lacks the temperament to qualify as a dictator.

The Mature Parent

Mother Is Not Son's Twin

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I have just had a terrible shock. My boy, 10, has lied to one of our neighborhood stores by saying he had permission to use his father's charge account and has run up a bill of nearly $8 for candy, ball point pens, ice cream and cold drinks. He refused to admit the lie until I threatened to tell his father. I paid the bill. But where do I go from here? This amounts to stealing as well as lying . . .

ANSWER: Goodness, woman, this is your child's lie, not yours! You're carrying on as though you'd been misusing this charge account!

If you weren't so anxious to hog all the responsibility for your child's misbehavior, the answer would be simple. You'd say to him, "Why didn't you tell us you wanted a bigger allowance? Then you wouldn't have had to go through all this trouble and worry. What a silly way to get some extra money for yourself!

"Now you're going to have to pay for being silly. You're going to have to pay me back that $8 out of your weekly allowance before we can even talk about giving you a biggger one. I'm sorry you had to go to all this bother and worry to hide an ordinary wish for a little more money every week . . ."

Unfortunately, for you the answer isn't simple at all.

There's no difference for you between yourself and your child. What he's done, you've done. He's you and you're him. So you can't rear back and see him as different from you—a 10-year-old who has been made afraid to tell you he needed some extra money and so concocted this clumsy, inexperienced, inefficient method for getting it. To you, he's a grownup like yourself for whom his clumsy method would indeed be immoral.

No wonder you're upset. You're in the horrible position of half a Siamese twin who can't separate himself from what his other half does; and so has to be dragged, screaming and howling, into responsibility for action his other half takes.

You are not your child's Siamese twin. When he was born, your obstetrician cut the cord which tied you together and made him into a separate person whose actions were different from yours. You did not wriggle your toes or suck your thumb when he did—and you do not lie when your child lies, either.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Miscellaneous notes from the Democratic convention in Atlantic City:

In a convention which lacked even the most rudimentary elements of suspense, delegates spent a good deal of time swapping complaints.

Major topic was hotel accommodations. Stories of outmoded bathrooms, decrepit furniture, high prices, a lack of room service and no air conditioning were plentiful.

Particularly displeased was the massive 296-member California delegation, most of whom were quartered at the ancient Ambassador Hotel. Two members started a special newsletter to keep the rest of the delegation informed of the latest "victims claimed by the hotel."

The Californians blamed their predicament on the Texas delegation, which drew the excellent Haddon Hall hotel.

"Those Texans cooked up some kind of a deal to stick us in a lousy hotel, "explained one member. "They claimed we did them dirt in the 1960 convention in Los Angeles.

"We're going straight home and start arrangements to land the 1968 convention for California. We've got to do something to get even with Texas."

IN A BALLROOM used for major meetings, newsmen at green baize tables were quietly studying part of the Democratic platform. The silence was broken only by the rustling of turning pages.

Suddenly, from a side entrance, came the sound of shuffling feet and babbling voices. Former Pennsylvania Gov. David Lawrence, surrounded by a posse of state troopers and followed by 25 or 30 reporters and photographers, swept through the room at a fast pace.

Blue curtains held up by metal stanchions toppled over and disappeared beneath trampling feet. A television camera swung around to catch the urgent scene.

When it was all over a startled reporter in the room asked: "What was that?"

It was merely Gov. Lawrence, head of the Credentials Committee, on his way to the telephone.

ALSO A PRIME TOPIC of conversation was the dedicated band of 200 New Jersey state troopers sent to Atlantic City to guard all approaches to Convention Hall.

In their zeal to keep the spectators within the prescribed limits set by the fire marshal, the troopers barred several dignitaries from the hall on Monday's opening night.

The troopers "bag" of dignitaries increased Tuesday night including Rhode Island Sen. John Pastore, Monday's keynoter.

With President Johnson due Wednesday night, the troopers took no chances. After the start of the session about 8 p. m., no one was admitted, whatever his credentials.

One of the few exceptions was a young man who shoved his way up to one blue-shirted trooper, pushed an identification card into his face and shouted: "Read it, buddy! Secret Service!"

A CLUE to the eventual choice of Hubert Humphrey as vice presidential nominee was noted by newsmen early in the convention—at the Credentials Committee hearings of the Mississippi delegation dispute.

Committee Chairman David Lawrence acknowledged that Humphrey played a key role in the final compromise resolution. Reporters were well aware of this role.

"When things were going good, it was always called the 'Humphrey compromise,' " noted one newsman. "But when events took a turn for the worse, it became the 'David Lawrence compromise.' "

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I received an interesting letter from Collette Sonnenberg who writes as follows: "As you know, the senior choir of the Old Dutch church is again sponsoring an antique show and sale this fall, Oct. 8-10. In addition to the exhibits of our dealers, we feel that a display of Kingston and Ulster County memorabilia would be of great interest to those attending the show. I know from reading your column that you have a fine collection of old photographs, post cards and newspapers, etc."

In the choir room where luncheon will be served she writes, they would like to have a display of some local items, and invited me to show some of the material I have. I have always been promising myself that I would frame the pictures and photographs and mount some, so perhaps this will encourage me to do it now, and have it ready for the Oct. 8 to 10 Antique Show at the Old Dutch Church.

Another item in this letter reads: "You may be interested to know that one of our exhibitors this year is coming from California. She was born in Kingston and hasn't been here in almost 30 years. The only information I have about her at present is that her maiden name was Kaplan and she lived on Newkirk Avenue. She and her husband are now touring Europe and visiting their daughter who lives in France. I am anxiously awaiting a letter that should give me more information as I am sure that there are many people in Kingston who remember her. Maybe this will give her an opportunity to renew old friendships."

Mrs. Colette Sonnenberg enclosed a little business card which I presume is from the former Miss Kaplan of Newkirk Avenue. I see she lives in Hollywood, Calif., and also has a Virgin Islands address and her shops go under the name of B. de Leon Antiques. She is listed as Mrs. Bd Katzin, and in the other corner of the card is listed Dr. Leon A. Katzin. No doubt, she will bring an interesting display to the Old Dutch Church. I always enjoy meeting the people at these antique shows as well as the items which are shown.

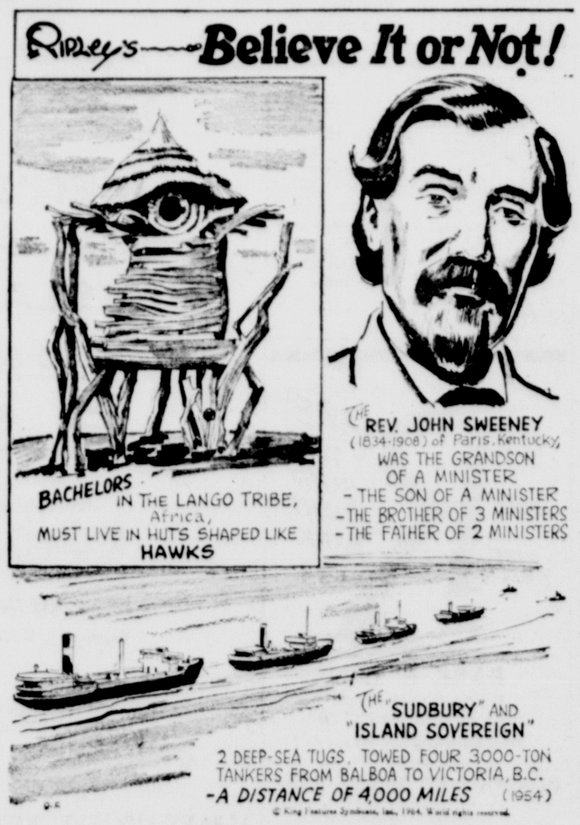

I saw in The Antique Trader of Kewanee, Ill., July 15, 1964, page 31 a nice advertisement at the top of the page reading thus: "In Historic Kingston, N. Y. Antiques Show-Sale, Old Dutch Church, Wall Street, Oct. 8 and 9, 11 a. m. to 9 p. m.; Oct. 10, 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. Luncheon, smorgasbord, food bar, donation 50 cents, Senior Choir Sponsor." So perhaps this national magazine will bring other former Kingstonians from far and near to Kingston during those days.

I see one advertisement from Texas which is looking for "architectural gingerbread . . . removed from demolished homes or public buildings, like fancy doors, hardware, fences and gates, carvings and turnings, light fixtures and even ornate plumbing, benches, fountains and planters." I am just wondering is Kingston and the vicinity demolishing and throwing away, that which is so wanted across the country by others who are willing to pay well for the article and for the transportation of such heavy items. Antique shows, like at the Old Dutch Church, I think, teach us what is wanted, and the worth of what we already own.

The Global View

Old Order Changes In Communist World

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Analyst

NEW YORK (NEA) — The presidential election campaign has largely overshadowed the conflict between Russia and Red China which is fast approaching a critical stage.

The next U. S. president may well have to deal with two distinct and separate Red blocs bitterly hostile toward each other.

The breakup of the Red "monolith" is bound to introduce an entirely new element in the foreign policy of the United States, the leading nation in the North Atlantic alliance. It will surely herald the end of Western diplomacy as it was practiced for nearly 50 years, since the Communists seized power in Russia in 1917.

How serious is the Red split? Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in the view of specialists on communism, is determined that his conclave of 25 Red parties should convene Dec. 15 in Moscow. The sole purpose of the conference will be to bring Mao Tse-tung to his knees or expel him as a "dogmatist" from the ranks of international communism.

The Soviet premier will thus risk Red unity and disregard the advice of Poland's Wladyslaw Gomulka and other Red chieftains who are ostensibly on his side.

It is the consensus of specialists on communism that Premier Khrushchev, for all his bravado and bluster, is leading from weakness and not from strength. His conflict with Mao Tse-tung has created an intolerable situation for Moscow.

It is sapping Russia's morale and economic strength and is undermining Khrushchev's bargaining position with the West and his prestige in the undeveloped nations. He must, therefore, gamble on isolating China or face even greater difficulties

When the Soviet premier first issued his call for the conference of 25 Communist parties, the Red Chinese replied—borrowing Khrushchev's favorite threat against the West—that he was "taking a step toward his own grave."

Since then, ironically enough, French Communist leader Maurice Thorez died while on his way for a rest in Russia. Italy's Communist chief, Palmiro Togliatti, died while vacationing in the Crimea.

Thorez and Togliatti, as leaders of the largest Communist parties in Western Europe, were to have been key figures in the conflict between Moscow and Peking. They had been staunch supporters of Premier Khrushchev. Their successors, now engaged in a struggle for power of their own, lack the prestige to tip the scales on Moscow's side.

Another indication of Premier Khrushchev's weakness and deterioriating position is the fact that Romania's Red chiefs, long known for their servility to Moscow, now consider it safe to twist the Russian bear's tail. They even have the audacity to question Khrushchev's "right" to summon a conference that, in their view, can only result in the destruction of "socialist unity."

The Red split which will confront the man elected president of the United States in November is no longer the wishful thinking of "experts." It is a grim reality with world-wide repercussions.

Communist parties everywhere are already engaged in a civil war between pro-Russion "revisionists" and pro-Peking "dogmatists." Mao Tse-tung, contrary to Russian propaganda, has strong influence among Reds in Asia, Africa and and Latin America.

Even increasing number of Communist intellectuals in Western Europe now see Red China, not Moscow, as the wave of the Marxist-Leninist future.

Mao's latest decision to call a rival Red parley for the purpose of branding Premier Khrushchev and his allies as "anti-Leninist splitters" seems to have brought his conflict with the Russians to a point of no return.

An Associated Press Series

Views of President Johnson Presented on Various Issues

The views of President Lyndon B. Johnson on a variety of topical issues is being presented in a series of articles compiled by the Associated Press.

The opinions expressed have been taken from the President's speeches, magazine articles, news conferences and other public remarks and messages. The fifth installment today includes his stand on the poll tax and his political philosophy.

The next part will cover South Viet Nam and space policy.

POLL TAX

In a Senate speech, March 9, 1949, discussing a civil rights bill proposed by President Truman, Sen. Johnson said:

"I do not believe in the poll tax as a prerequsite for voting. I have advocated, and I do advocate, the repeal of the constitutional provision of Texas which makes the payment of a poll tax necessary before a citizen can vote.

"The framers of the Constitution were plain, specific and unambiguous in providing that each state should have the right to prescribe the qualifications of its electors. For that reason, and for that reason alone, I believe that the proposed antipoll tax measure is wholly unconstitutional and violates the rights of the states guaranteed by Section 2 of Article I of the Constitution."

Fifteen years later, as President, he said, in a Jan. 23, 1964, message on final ratification of a constitutional amendment abolishing the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting:

"The abolishment of the poll tax as a condition to voting in federal elections is the forward step of a modern society. It is a verification of people's rights which are rooted so deeply in the mainstream of this nation's history. As majority leader of the Senate, I personally urged the banishment of bars to voting. This triumph, now, of liberty over restriction is a grateful and proud moment for me."

POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY

In an article in the winter, 1958, issue of the Texas Quarterly, Johnson outlined his political philosophy this way:

"I am a free man, an American, a U.S. senator, and a Democrat, in that order.

"I am also a liberal, a conservative, a Texan, a taxpayer, a rancher, a consumer, a parent, a voter, and not as young as I used to be nor as old as I expect to be — and I am all these things in no fixed order.

"I am unaware of any descriptive word in the second paragraph which qualifies, modifies, amends, or is related by hyphenation to the terms listed in the first paragraph. In consequence, I am not able — nor even the least interested in trying — to define my political philosophy by the choice of a one-word or two-word label This may be against the tide, but, if so, the choice is deliberate.

"This leads to a listing of the tenents of my own beliefs, the specific tenents of my own philosophy. I would set them down this way:

"First, I believe every American has something to say and, under our system, a right to an audience.

"Second, I believe there is always a national answer to each national problem, and, believing this, I do not believe there are necessarily two sides to every question.

"Third, I regard achievement of the full potential of our resources — physical, human and otherwise — to be the highest purpose of governmental policies next to the protection of those rights we regard as inalienable.

"Fourth, I regard waste as the continuing enemy of our society and the prevention of waste—waste of resources, waste of lives, or waist of opportunity—to be the most dynamic of the responsibilities of our government."

Case to Resume Wednesday Over Murphy Children

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)— Dr. James S. Murphy will be back on the witness stand when court resumes Wednesday in the hearing asked by his former wife, the present Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller, to regain custody of their four children.

He testified for nearly two hours before State Supreme Court Justice Joseph Gagliardi recessed the case Friday. It is being heard by the judge, with the press and public barred, and is expected to continue until next Friday.

After testimony was completed by Mrs. Rockefeller, wife of the New York Republican governor, attorneys for Murphy made routine motions to dismiss the complaint. The judge denied them.

Murphy's attorney, Vincent J. Malone, told newsmen chances for an out-of - court settlement were "nil."

Murphy, 41, has legal custody of the four children under a separation agreement that was incorporated into the divorce judgment Mrs. Rockefeller obtained in Idaho, April 1, 1963—a month before she married Rockefeller.

She now is seeking a change in the agreement to give her custody, subject to visitation rights for Murphy, a virologist at the Rockefeller Institute.

Murphy and Mrs. Rockefeller, who have been making a point to avoid each other, had their first face-to-face confrontation. He turned around and found himself facing his former wife.

They both looked up, gave a nervous smile and murmured politely, "Hi," or "Hello," as it was heard by some observers.

criminal calendar for some time and the motion to reject the statement made by Black, was the latest move in the pre-trial legal skirmishes.

After hearing testimony from many witnesses in regard to how the statement was taken, Judge Tucker late Friday ruled that the statement could not be introduced in evidence or used at the trail. He then set the case down for next Wednesday. He will preside at the trial since County Judge Raymond J. Mino is disqualified by reason of being district attorney at the time the indictment was returned.

Pathological Liar

In rejecting the statement, Judge Tucker said he did so based on testimony offered on the motion of defendant to reject the statement, and on the testimony of Dr. Werner Cohn, psychiatrist who examined Black after his apprehension. Dr. Cohen described Black as a "pathological liar," one who would make false statements in regard to happenings.

The regular September trial term of County Court will be convened at 2 p. m. on Tuesday by County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Stranded Sailboat Is Lifted by Tide

A 33-foot sailboat enroute from New York City to Ohio which was stranded on a sandbar in the Hudson River off Saugerties Friday morning was freed by high tide about 1:30 p. m., according to Kingston State Police.

Trooper Robert Mackey said John Chriscinski, of Cleveland, was piloting the boat up the river at about 4:30 a. m., when the craft stuck on a sandbar. The owner of the boat refused assistance to remove the boat for fear the underpart might be damaged.

Chriscinski waited until high tide lifted the boat and then he went on his way.

fine is a 10-year prison term. They must be indicted first, however, by a federal grand jury which normally would not meet until early next year.

Asked by newsmen how they could meet the bond, defense attorney James Hudson said, "These boys got a lot of friends, and we do, too."

Jury Had Last Say

Prosecuting attorney Clete Johnson, who asked for the death penalty, said after the verdict: "I'm disappointed. We left no stones unturned but the jury had the last say."

A court - appointed defense lawyer, John Darsey, in an impassioned plea for acquittal, hammered at the racial issue and the federal government.

"They loosed a horde of federal agents in our midst," he said, waving his arms and slapping the jury box.

Then, dramatically lowering his voice, he added, "President Johnson sent them swarming in."

Darsey called the FBI "carpetbaggers of justice."

Prosecutor Jeff Wayne warned the jury that if the killing was condoned, "Human life has less value than a box of snuff."

Mentions Children

Hudson, the defense attorney, lapsing into the vernacular of the region, appealed to the jury composed mostly of farmers and laborers: "You can't, after you electrocute them — and these children ain't got no daddy — come back and say you wonder if they did it."

Sims has eight children and Myers is the father of 3, and his wife is expecting.

Ulster Projects

ed by the office of Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, (R) representing the 28th Congressional District, (Ulster, Greene, Schoharie, Columbia and Dutchess Counties).

The Senate bill for the local projects failed to include the North Ellenville flood control planning. Congressman Wharton after passage in the House requested the Senate to amend the bill to include the $50,000 for Ellenville.

The public works money is for the fiscal year which started July 1. More than half of the total goes to the AEC which receives $2,671,639,000 for its operations in the nuclear fields.

Army engineers will receive $1,218,400,200 and the Reclamation Bureau $323,246,500 for various water projects, flood control, navigation, beach erosion, irrigation and power generating project.

The House bill was passed in mid-August.

The Rosendale flood control program involved Rondout Creek between LeFever Falls and Route 32 in the Village of Rosendale. The project would eliminate the north channel around Ackerman Island and would widen and deepen the south channel. It would also eliminate the canal at the gorge site, lower the lips of LeFever Falls and straighten out the creek between Route 32 bridge and the Thruway bridge.

The work on the Hudson River is part of the continuing program of channel widening and deepening under the new 32 foot project. Work is underway now from a point north of Hudson and Catskill and will continue south past the two communities.

The North Ellenville project calls for proposed construction of local protections works on the Bear Kill, Fantine Kill and North Gully.

Petitioners Ask Investigation of Area CORE Group

A petition requesting investigation of the Ulster County Chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality signed by about 200 Kingston residents has been forwarded to CORE headquarters in New York City, reliable sources stated today.

The petitioners, organized under the name "Citizens Committee of Kingston" delivered an 83-word statement to the office of James McCain, 30 Park Row, New York City late last week.

McCain is organizational chairman of CORE in New York State.

The petition charges that "the Communist conspiracy in the United States has taken over and infiltrated the Ulster County Chapter of CORE."

The group demands "a complete and impartial investigation" conducted by a representativ of regional CORE headquarters. They indicate they are "not satisfied with the recent investigation" which was conducted last July.

The July investigation followed an accusation by Mrs. Henry Van Dyke, founder of the area CORE chapter that, the organization had been "infiltrated by persons unfamiliar with the Negro situation in Kingston.

The petition concludes with the warning, "Unless the Ulster County Chapter of CORE is cleansed of this communistic domination, we . . . will take claim to the world that CORE appears indifferent to the communistic conspiracy in the U.S.A."

The committee has also planned a protest picket at the Woodstock Playhouse 8 p. m. Sept. 18, the date on which National Chairman of CORE, James Farmer, is scheduled to appear for the area chapter.

The petitioners feel that Farmer should appear in Kingston, "where a greater concentra- of Negroes reside."

Memoriam

In loving memory of our darling Mom, Annie Pearce, who departed this life 18 years ago, Sept. 7, 1946.

Every day in some sweet way,
Her loving memory comes our way
As long as we live we will treasure her name.
In memory we see her just the same,
Some day we too shall be at rest,
We will be together hand in hand,
In Gods fair garden, Mother dear.

Loving Daughters,

MOTHER'S LOW CUT GOWN AT WEDDING

Q—My granddaughter is going to be married at an evening wedding. Her mother is wearing a long evening dress, sleeveless and rather low cut. When I asked her what kind of a wrap she was going to wear over it, she said the mothers do not wear wraps in church and that she wasn't going to wear one. Considering the type of dress she is wearing, I think it will be in very bad taste for her not to wear something over her shoulders in church. What is your opinion on this?

A—Ordinarily, the mothers do not wear wraps over their dresses in church. But if the bride's mother's dress is low cut, you are right in thinking that something must be worn over her shoulders while in church.

An Unmarried Mother Marries

Q—Isn't it in very bad taste for a girl who has had a child out of wedlock, to be married in white? Is not white a sign of purity? My friend says it is permissible as long as she does not wear a veil.

A—It is permissible for her, just as it is for a widow at her second marriage, to wear a white street length dress and hat. She cannot, of course, wear a typical bridal dress nor a bridal veil.

Announcement of Opening of Medical Office

Q—My husband and I have just received a printed announcement from my niece's husband of the opening of a medical office. Does this require any acknowledgement?

A—A printed form announcing the opening of a medical office requires no acknowledgement. If you wish, it would be a nice gesture on your part to send him a message wishing him success in his new office.

Dear Abby . . .

Face Facts, Man!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I had an affair with a woman who left her husband and children to live with me. I left my wife and children, too, but I couldn't stay away from them so I finally broke up with this woman. After I left her, she claimed the last child she had was mine. It could be, so I have been giving her money. I've been hiding all this from my wife, but we've been having so many arguments over money lately that she suspects me of keeping this woman. If I stop giving her money, I'm afraid she'll take me to court and the mess will be known. If I keep giving her money, I'll lose my wife. I want to save my marriage because I could never be happy with this other woman. I've already hurt my wife so much, I don't want to hurt her any more. Please answer in your column. I can't get mail at home. Thank you.

TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: You need a lawyer. To submit to blackmail for the rest of your life is unnecessary. If she does take you to court and the mess "becomes known," it shouldn't shock your wife too much because she knew you left her to live with another woman. Let the law decide how much, if anything, the other woman is entitled to. And pay up like a man, if you must.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were at our club recently, and while dancing with an eligible bachelor who has been a hunting friend of my husband's for years, something he said left me with mixed emotions. He said, "If anything ever happens to your husband, I want you." I confess I was both flattered and disturbed. How would you have taken that remark?

OVERWHELMED

DEAR OVERWHELMED: As a warning. Don't let your husband go hunting with this "friend" any more.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 16 and my problem is a mother who won't let me have a girl friend over unless the house is in perfect order. She's afraid the girl might go home and tell her mother that she's a poor housekeeper. Abby, my girl friends don't go to people's homes to see what kind of housekeeper the mother is. I know when I am at someone's house, I never notice the housekeeping unless it is horribly messed up, and even then, I wouldn't care, or say anything about it. Can't you explain this to my mother, Abby? She reads your column, and I can't seem to make her understand.

WANTS COMPANY

DEAR WANTS: I'll try:

Dear Mother: There is nothing more comforting to a mother than knowing where her daughter is, and with whom. You can insure this feeling by encouraging your daughter to bring her friends home, and letting them know they are welcome any time. Youngsters take little notice of housekeeping. In fact, a little disarray is strangely inviting.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I started trying to remember the last time my husband gave me a compliment or told me that he loved me and, Abby, it had been so many years ago I couldn't remember.

Then one day last week I heard you say on the radio that the way to get love was to give it. So that night when my husband was helping me dry dishes, I suddenly put my arms around his neck and said, "Darling, do you know that I love you?"

He was so overcome, he almost dropped the cup he was drying. Then he kissed me like I hadn't been kissed in years! I just can't tell you how much it meant to both of us, Abby. I am 62 and he is 64.

THANKS FROM BOTH OF US

Dogs Pave Way To New Life for Delinquent Boys

LINCOLNDALE, N.Y. (AP) — With dogs as companions, 245 delinquent boys hike and fish and learn friendship, love and loyalty while turning to a new life at a 900-acre Roman Catholic protectory.

The boys are between 11 and 15 years old. Many come from broken homes. Up to now their life included robbery, stealing cars, assault and picking pockets.

When they enter Lincoln Hall in a rural setting of this Westchester County community not far from the crowded streets of New York, the boys are rebellious, suspicious and bewildered.

"The dogs are a bridge to a new life," explained Brother Christian, director of the 101-year-old institution operated by the Brothers of the Christian Schools.

The 36 dogs of all sizes and breeds are used to help the wayward boys relax and gain confidence.

"Wherever the kids go the dogs go — except in the dining room," said Brother Amator Michael. "We try to keep the dogs out of the classrooms but don't always succeed.

"One problem is that some of the kids won't eat meat sometimes, so that they can take it to the pets."

One of the youngsters is Tony, 14, whose parents are on relief in the Bronx. He was committed to Lincoln Hall in 1961 for assault and larceny. He was released but returned in 1963 for picking pockets and shoplifting.

Tony, a 98-pounder, says he has learned about friendship, self-respect, loyalty and love from Tiny Bear, a 134-pound Newfoundland, who sleeps beside him in a 24-bed cottage.

Tony vows he won't get into trouble again.

Most of the dogs were donated by estate and kennel owners, and boys may take home special pets when they leave Lincoln Hall. There also are horses, rabbits, cats and a monkey on the grounds.

But it's dogs who are the best loved.

The World's Week as Reported On National, Foreign Incidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The conventions were over, the summer was waning, the kids were coming back from camp, and mothers were preparing for a new school year. And the nation formally plunged into its quadrennial ritual — the presidential campaign.

Barry Goldwater fired the first shot, without waiting for Labor Day.

Standing on the spot in Prescott, Ariz., where he previously launched two successful fights for the Senate, The GOP presidential candidate — in the shadow of a Goldwater store — declared that if elected he would move gradually to change the face of government in domestic and foreign policy.

His speech Sept. 3 sounded as if designed to counter Democratic party claims that he was impulsive, reckless and inclined to shoot from the hip, and that these traits might plunge the world into war.

"I do not intend to be a wartime president," Goldwater said. And: "We must proceed with care in our task of cutting the government down to size."

He pledged he would end the draft; "never abandon the needy and aged;" and claimed the policies of the Johnson administration had led to violence in the nation's streets.

On the other side of the fence, Lyndon Baines Johnson took his running mate off for a weekend on the President's Texas ranch. There he and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota put on a dazzling show for newsmen, touring the ranch, stampeding a herd of cattle for photographers and shouting "Yahoo" over the landscape.

Back in Washington, Johnson and Humphrey withheld campaign fire during the week, giving Goldwater the spotlight. The President, preparing to speak in Detroit, was still not ready to admit he was campaigning.

His press secretary, George E. Reedy, said, "I'm not labeling this a campaign trip. He's going to Detroit to make a Labor Day speech."

Another campaign got under way promising to be one of the most colorful Senate fights in the nation. Robert F. Kennedy roared into New York City Tuesday and easily won the nomination at the state Democratic convention, despite cries of "carpetbagger" from some critics.

The next day he began his campaign for his first elective office.

Resigns Federal Post

Then he resigned as U.S. Attorney General and received a "Dear Bob" letter from President Johnson, who wrote: "You will soon be back in Washington where I can again call upon your judgment and counsel."

If the President is correct, come Nov. 3, some observers see a Kennedy victory as the first step for a try at the White House.

Elsewhere on the national scene:

Henry Krajewski, 52, erstwhile pig farmer of Secaucus, N.J., who organized the Poor Man's party in 1949, announced he would again run for president "against two millionaires."

Stan Musial, 43, the nation's physical fitness director, collapsed from overwork in Milwaukee and was ordered to a hospital for a rest.

The Senate voted to combine health insurance for the aged with increases in Social Security, but the bill was given little chance of passage in the House this year.

At a hearing closed to the press, Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller testified for several days in her fight to regain the four children she gave up when she divorced Dr. James Murphy to marry the governor of New York.

Deaths:

Sgt. Alvin C. York, 76, World War I hero, who became a legend, and Dr. Norman A. Welch, 62, president of the American Medical Association.

Across the world, in Southeast Asia, where there is little peace, war spread to Malaysia. Rioting broke out again in Singapore and the Malaysian government contended that paratroopers from Indonesia had dropped onto the Malay Peninsula north of Singapore.

The Malaysian government in Kuala Lumpur said it was all a plot by Indonesian President Sukarno to crush Malaysia. In the Singapore riots between Malays and Chinese, at least eight persons had been killed and 60 injured. The government contended Communists and Indonesian elements were fomenting the riots, playing on ill feeling between the ethnic groups.

After five days of "temporary retirement," Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh returned to Saigon and tried to resume the government of South Viet Nam. He said he and the army group around him would stay on for the time being, but would step down once democracy was established.

While the war in Viet Nam continued to take its toll of Vietnamese and Americans, one life it didn't take was that of Navy flier Lt. Charles F. Klusmann.

Makes Another Try

Shot down over Laos while on a reconnaissance mission June 6, Klusmann was captured and imprisoned by Communist Pathet Lao forces. Tuesday it was revealed he had escaped into neighboring Thailand and was flying home.

En route to his home in San Diego, Calif., Klusmann stopped in Honolulu and declared simply: "It's a pleasure to be here." The Navy kept him under wraps, but his parents disclosed his ordeal had caused him to lose 30 pounds.

Quotes of the week:

"One wonders that they (Red Chinese) do not suggest the dismemberment of the Soviet Union" — Premier Khrushchev.

Zoning Commission Slates Open Meeting September 11

The Woodstock Zoning Commission will hold a public open meeting at the Woodstock town hall on Friday evening, Sept. 11.

The meeting is part of a series of steps taken by the Zoning Commission to inform the public of Woodstock's zoning plans.

Plans discussed at this meeting are not in any way the final plans of the commission. They will be presented to the public and discussion is invited.

The formal public hearing required by law before the zoning ordinance can be adopted will be held at a later date. The exact date has not been announced.

Worked from Guide

Since the creation of the zoning commission last fall, members have been working on recommendations for the proposed zoning ordinance.

A proposed zoning ordinance suggested by planning consultants Brown and Anthony has been the guide for the zoning commission's deliberations but it has been learned that the commission will make several proposals of its own.

Brown and Anthony's proposed zoning ordinance for the Town of Woodstock was published in book form and distributed to select people in the township long before the zoning commission was appointed. It was never made available to the general public and taxpayers and later was withdrawn from circulation.

An annual highlight of the Woodstock social calendar, the traditional fall costume ball of the Woodstock Artists Association will be held tonight at the Art Students League.

Paintings by three famous Woodstock artists — Fletcher Martin, Sidney Laufman and Eugene Ludins—will be awarded during the evening.

Captain Robert Breitenstein of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 announced that the resuscitator instruction classes that had been suspended during the fund raising drive will resume Wednesday, Sept. 9, at 7 p. m.

The course will continue thereafter every second Wednesday and fourth Thursday of the month.

Legion Clambake On Tap Sunday

There will be goodies galore at the annual American Legion clambake Sunday afternoon from 1 to 6 p. m. at the Legion grounds.

Past Commander Mark Vlock announces that from 1 to 4 p. m. the menu will include hot and sweet Italian sausage, raw clams, shrimp with cocktail sauce and chicken livers with mushrooms sauteed in hot sauce.

The main bake begins at 4 p. m., with servings until 6 p. m. and will include steamed clams with melted butter and hot sauce, clam broth, corn on the cob, white and sweet potatoes, charcoal broiled chicken, tossed salad, pickles and olives, iced watermelon and coffee. Free beer and soda will be served throughout the day. Tickets may be purchased at the bake.

Progress Is Made But Cyprus War Could Break Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dean Acheson will tell President Johnson next week that while the Cyprus crisis can be permanently settled in time, as matters stand now war could break out at almost any moment.

The former secretary of state will see the President Tuesday. He returned Friday from a negotiation mission to Geneva with word that "a great deal" of progress was made toward resolving Greek and Turkish differences over Cyprus.

At the same time, he said publicly what officials here have been saying privately for weeks — that the policy of Archbishop Makarios, the president of Cyprus, created serious difficulty for Acheson's mediation efforts.

"The archbishop didn't go out of his way to be helpful," Acheson said. "He threw monkey wrenches into the machinery."

Acheson, secretary of state in the Truman administration, drew a sharp distinction between the immediate situation on the island, where Greek and Turkish Cypriot forces are arrayed against each other, and the longer range prospect for a the Mediterranean island some new status in relation to Greece and Turkey.

On Cyprus, Acheson said, the situation is so critical that "war could break out in 25 minutes." But he said he is confident "if we get a period of peace and tranquility" the Cyprus crisis can be solved.

The question of what to do next for a settlement is the principal question he will discuss with Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other policymakers.

Youth Is Fined For Tearing Demo Sign in Woodstock

A Moorestown, N. J. man was fined $10 Friday night for tearing down a poster in front of Democratic Party campaign headquarters on Tinker Street in Woodstock.

Woodstock police said they received a report about 10 p. m. from a witness who claimed he had seen a group of teen-agers ripping the Johnson-Humphrey sign and then driving away.

Police officers, supplied with the youths' registration number, spotted their car parked outside of Buckman's Restaurant.

Apprehended were Gregory Miller of Moorestown and another youth whose name was withheld. Miller was fined and given a 10 days suspended sentence for malicious mischief.

Officers Graver, Reynolds, O'Brien and Meila were in charge.

North's Bid Gambles to Win

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

North's jump to six spades was what might be called a crapshooter's bid. He had no idea if his partner could make six spades, but he felt that his nonvulnerable opponents would save at seven diamonds and North was willing to settle for whatever he could get from the set.

Opening lead—♦ K

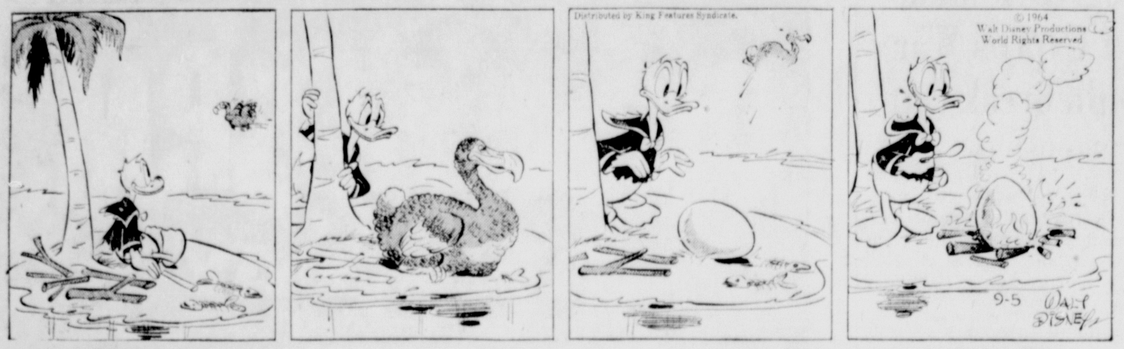

East and West failed to rise to the bait and South had to struggle with his contract.

He won the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds and led a trump to his ace. Then he finessed the queen of hearts and promptly cashed the ace of hearts. He continued by ruffing out the last diamond and leading his ten of hearts. West was in with the king and forced to lead a club into South's ace-queen or to give South a chance to ruff a diamond in dummy and get rid of his queen of clubs. Either way it was sure death and South showed his hand.

If West had really been alert he could have kept out of the end play by dropping his king of hearts under dummy's ace. He would look rather silly if South held the jack, but in that case he would have no way at all to set the hand, so the king of hearts play really was indicated.

Economy Retirement Suited for the Elderly

BY JACK McELENEY

Any house specificaly designed for retiring couples should take into consideration the age and financial status of the owners and certain features are incorporated in the plans to overcome any expected problems.

The designers today offer the "Elena", a low cost retirement dwelling with features ideally suited to the elderly. The general layout affords comfortable and efficiency living. There are two bedrooms at the rear. The master bedroom is conveniently located opposite the large front kitchen and the other bedroom can be used for a den or guest room for weekend or overnight visitors.

A distinct advantage for the elder home owner is the lowness of this house. When an inevitable minor repair has to be made, such as a clogged gutter, it is a simple matter of going up three or four ladder rungs to make the adjustment rather than the cost of calling the repair man.

The "Elena" contains 768 square feet of living area with outside dimensions of 32 by 24 feet. The blueprints show how to build on a level lot and also with one car garage under for a lot that slopes to the side.

Complete plans are available by using the accompanying coupon. With the plans you will receive form specifications at no extra cost that will be helpful in discussing costs with your contractor.

That Luxury Look

It costs no more to give your home the "luxurious look." Use of quality building materials such as real ceramic floor and wall tile or hardwoods often costs no more than substitute materials. Ceramic tile, for example, once considered a luxury material, is now found in homes in all price categories.

Glue Lam

Glue laminated beams and trusses make ideal timbers for long spans. They will cover an extra-wide living room and look beautiful while they are doing a heavy load bearing job. Douglas fir is the principal wood that glue laminators use in the western states and it is shipped nationwide.

FLOOR COVERING is my business . . .
by SY BLAS

Question: When should lining felt (paper) be used for tiles or linoleum.

Answer: The purpose of lining felt is to take up the expansion and contraction of wood floors. Therefore you need never to use lining felt on, above or below grade concrete. The use of lining felt on underlament boards such as plyscore or masonite, etc., is strictly optional. However on strip floors 3" wide or less, lining felt is a must.

Expect 80,000 For Exhibitions At Cleveland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This is the last week fo tinkering with the pro football machines, and some 80,000 people will be on hand tonight at Cleveland to see an exhibition doubleheader, for the third straight year.

The New York Giants, Eastern Division winners in the National Football League, will meet the Detroit Lions in the opener, and the host Browns will face the Green Bay Packers in the second game.

That's the highlight of the last pre-season week for the NFL, but all 14 teams will be in action, 12 tonight, and Baltimore and Pittsburgh Sunday at Canton, Ohio, in the annual Hall of Fame game. CBS will televise that one nationally.

In the American Football League, six of the eight teams will have their final tune-ups tonight. Kansas City beat Houston 27-17 Thursday night.

In other NFL games tonight, the Minnesota Vikings meet the Philadelphia Eagles at Hershey, Pa.; the Dallas Cowboys play the defending champion Chicago Bears at New Orleans, and St. Louis faces Washington at Norfolk, Va.

Pittsburgh owner Art Rooney is among the seven who will be inducted into the Hall of Fame before the Sunday game.

Jim Conzelman, former coach and club owner, and five players, George Trafton, Clark Hinkle, Ed Healey, Mike Michalske anh Roy Lyman complete the list.

In the AFL, Denver will entertain the Boston Patriots, Buffalo goes against the revitalized New York Jets at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and the champion San Diego Chargers play the Oakland Raiders at San Diego.

Navy Swimmer Diving Champ

NEW YORK (AP) — It has taken a long time, but Frank Gorman, a 26-year-old Navy lieutenant from New York, has finally made it to the top in springboard diving.

Gorman, a red-headed, freckled, 155-pounder, has competed in diving for 13 years, but until Friday he'd never won a national title.

Frank came through with flying colors in the finals of the U.S. Olympic three-meter springboard trials though, topping a field of eight and winning a berth on the team that will compete in Tokyo next month.

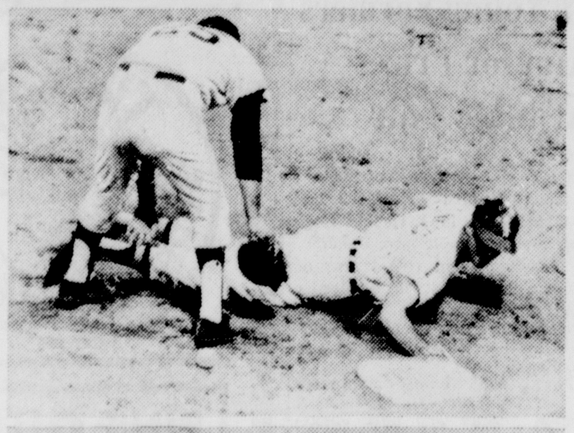

"I can't begin to say how great a thrill this is," he said after chalking up 841.95 points.

Gorman's top previous achievement in diving was winning the Eastern Intercollegiate title while at Harvard. He has been runner-up four times in National AAU tournaments.

Making the men's three-meter team along with Gorman were Larry Andreason, 18, from Los Altos, Calif., and Ken Sitzberger, a 19-year-old Indiana University sophomore, who finished second and third.

Jeanne Collier, a petite 18-year-old blonde from Phoenix, Ariz., Sue Gossick, a 16-year-old blonde from Los Angeles, and Patsy Willard, 23, from Phoenix, won positions on the womens' three-meter diving team.

Miss Collier, a pretty blue eyed Arizona State co-ed who won the outdoor three-meter national title in 1963, topped the women's trials with 757.50 points.

SAFETY FIRST—Attempted pickoff plays are the vogue these days but success has been limited. Jim Landis of the White Sox (top) gets back safely as Joe Pepitone drops the ball; Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs (middle) goes back head first and is safe as Phillies' Frank Thomas is pulled off the bag; and Baltimore's Russ Snyder uses the finger-tip method to beat Boston's Tony Horton.

Fred Davi of Kingston is serving as a co-chairman, along with Joe Gallio of Beacon. Davi handling the local ticket arrangements expects to fill three busloads.

Many nationally famous persons have accepted invitations to participate. Among them are former Postmaster James Farley and John V. Kenny, New Jersey State Democratic chairman.

Other well known personalities on the general committee include: Lud Shabazian, sports editor of the Hudson, N. J., Dispatch; Abe Greene, New Jersey State boxing commissioner; Don Clerkin, Hartford Times; Hank O'Donnell, sports editor of the Waterbury American; Ken Smith, director of the National Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown and many others.

All area fans interested in attending the game may purchase tickets from Davi.

Beefed-Up Defense, But . . .

Quarterback Problem Worries Dallas Team

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys head into the National Football League campaign with a beefed-up defense and a question mark at quarterback.

The quarterback problem cropped up last Saturday when Dallas' No. 1, Don Meredith, suffered a knee injury as the Cowboys were being overwhelmed by Green Bay. Since the extent of the injury is yet to be determined, and since Dallas' only quarterbacks were untested second-year man Sonny Gibbs and rookie John Jacobs from Arizona State, a move was dictated.

So, the Cowboys brought 31-year-old John Roach out of retirement.

Although the talk is about the Cowboys' flashy new attack, with receivers Tommy McDonald and Buddy Dial the prominent additions, Coach Tom Landry thinks his club will be improved most on defense.

"We added Jim Colvin from Baltimore and Maury Youmans from the Chicago Bears," said Landry. "And we have put Mel Renfro, our best rookie, at safety."

When Meredith is fit, he will handle the quarter-backing.

Gibbs, a much sought-after collegian a year ago, never got into a single game for the Cowboys in 1963. Billy Lothbridge can be aruqe acabrt k emergency.

Dial, Frank Clarke and McDonald, the former Philadelphia star, as the wide men will be fine targets. Pettis Norman is the tight end, backed by Lee Folkins.

Landry's offensive line is not too big and must depend more on finesse than power. Tony Liscio, acquired from Green Bay last year, has moved ahead of Bob Fry at left tackle. Jim Ray Smith is the other tackle. Joe Bob Isbell and Ray Schoenke are the guards and Mike Connelly the center of a constantly shifting line. Jim Boeke, ex-Ram, and rookies Whaley Hall, Jake Kupp and Dave Manders are in the fight.

The running attack is built around Don Perkins and Amos Marsh, a rugged one-two punch when healthy. Jim Stiger and Amos Bullocks are the reserves.

Landry has placed Colvin at left tackle on defense and uses Youmans as a back-up man. George Andrie and Larry Stephens are the ends and Bob Lilly the other tackle. Behind the regular line-backing crew of Chuck Howley, Jerry Tubbs and Lee Roy Jordan, the Cowboys have Dave Edwards and Harold Hays.

Cornell Green and Don Bishop play the corner positions in the deep defense with Mike Gaechter and Renfro at safety. Warren Livingston and rookie Perry Lee Dunn of Mississippi probably will be the extras.

Those Chisox Loved McMahon Mauch Is Now A Clairvoyant

Rap Cleveland Ace for 3 Key Hits in 6-5 Win

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don McMahon of the Cleveland Indians has pitched the Chicago White Sox to within one percentage point of first place in the hectic American League pennant race.

It took him only about 33 minutes and three pitches Friday night as the White Sox nipped the Indians 6-5 in 10 innings.

Baltimore, meanwhile, lost to Los Angeles 7-1, giving the Orioles a .600 to .599 lead over Chicago.

McMahon, a veteran relief hurler, made his 60th appearance of the season, coming on at the start of the eighth inning with the Indians leading 4-3. In his first 59 games the 34-year-old right-hander had given up only three homers.

At the same time, the White Sox were one of the weakest home run-hitting teams in the league, having connected only 89 times.

Ron Hansen, Chicago's leadoff batter in the eighth, promptly clouted his 16th homer into the lower left field seats for a 4-4 tie.

McMahon sailed smoothly through the ninth inning, and the Indians rallied for a 5-4 lead on Leon Wagner's run-scoring single in the top of the 10th.

Then came the White Sox 10th.

Pete Ward, the team's leading slugger, led off and powered his 19th homer into the center field bullpen. No sooner had Ward reached the dugout when Bill Skowron connected for his 16th, a drive into the right field seats.

In other AL games, New York defeated Kansas City 9-7 in 10 innings, Minnesota crushed Boston 14-3 and Detroit edged Washington 1-0.

The White Sox played their sloppiest defensive game of the season, making five errors. Four of the miscues, by Don Buford, J. C. Martin, Tom McCraw and Hansen, led to two unearned runs off starter Juan Pizarro.

The Indians took their 4-3 lead in the eighth on Max Alvis' inside-the-park homer. Jim Landis crashed into the left-center field wall trying for the catch.

Joe Adcock led the Angels' onslaught against the Orioles, hammering two homers and a single, batting in four runs. Willie Smith and Adcock slugged successive homers off reliever Chuck Estrada in the fifth, and Adcock drilled a two-run shot, his 20th, in the seventh.

Fred Newman, 11-8, held the Orioles scoreless until the ninth inning when Charlie Lau doubled and eventually scored on Jerry Adair's infield out.

A four-run, 10th-inning outburst, capped by Joe Pepitone's two-run double, brought the Yankees their victory over the Athletics. Nelson Mathews came back with a two-run homer in the bottom of the 10th. Ken Harrelson hit two homers for Kansas City while Mickey Mantle and Elston Howard connected for the Yankees.

Minnesota added to its league-leading home run total with Harmon Killebrew's 45th, Tony Oliva's 29th and 30th and Zoilo Versalles' 18th. Killebrew's came with two on while Oliva hit his with Versalles aboard each time. Felix Mantilla socked his 25th for Boston.

Dave Wickersham won his 17th game against 10 defeats, allowing the Senators three hits in eight innings. Fred Gladding pitched the ninth for Detroit. The game's only run came in the second inning when Don Demeter doubled, moved to third on a single by Bill Freehan and scored on Norm Cash's sacrifice fly.

Saratoga Race To Speedy Scot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If he had worn his moneybelt he would have collapsed from exhaustion at the first turn, but Speedy Scot had only a sulky and a driver to drag Friday night as he won the feature trot at Saratoga Raceway.

The sensational bay from Castleton Farm of Lexington, Ky., stepped the mile in 2:01 1-5 to capture the $10,340 sixth leg of the Harness Tracks of America Trot at Saratoga. It was his 10th victory in 12 starts this year.

And the triumph raised Speedy's earnings this year to more than $168,000, and his lifetime earnings to more than $503,000.

Scar Way was second and Donner Hanover, third. The winner paid $2.20.

Other harness activity:

Vernon Downs — Vogel Hanover ($4.80) stepped in at the last minute for ailing stablemate Mr. Jones, and scored a blazing 1:58 3-5 victory in the $5,000 feature pace. True Jerry was second and Miss Billie Creed, third.

Roosevelt Raceway — Chief ($7.50) edged Bill's Hall in the Carle Pace. The time was 2:01 3-5. Lucky Layne was the show horse.

Batavia Downs—Music Maker ($8.00) scored a half-length victory over Wally Jors in the $3,500 invitational trot. Mr. Elerton Key was third. The winning time was 2:05 1-5.

Drops Callison To Seventh Slot And It Pays Off

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gene Mauch didn't need an edge — his flying Phillies have been giving him plenty to work with. But the National League leaders' canny pilot has come up with a new slant anyway. He's become clairvoyant.

Mauch must have had it figured beforehand when he dropped Johnny Callison, the Phils' most valuable veteran, to seventh in the batting order for Friday night's series opener with San Francisco.

What else but a carefully contrived script could have made Callison Johnny-on-the-spot with the key hit in a four-run, eighth-inning rally that stunned the Giants 5-3 and increased the Phils' first-place margin by another big length.

Mauch may explain that a left-hander — rookie Dick Estelle — started for the Giants, that Callison would feel less pressure in the lower part of the order, etc. But any pennant-crazed Philadelphian will tell you the manager had the outcome up his sleeve all the way.

Thomas Delives

Callison delivered his tie-breaking single moments after Frank Thomas had tied the count with a two-run homer off lefty Billy O'Dell. Mauch probably had that one figured last month when the Phils spirited Thomas away from the New York Mets for the express purpose of hitting home runs against southpaw pitching.

While the Phillies were kicking the Giants into fourth place, 7½ games off the pace, Milwaukee's Tony Cloninger dropped runner-up Cincinnati 6½ lenghts back with a three-hit 2-0 victory over the Reds.

St. Louis topped the Chicago Cubs 8-5 on Ken Boyer's three-run homer in the ninth and took third place, one percentage point up on the Giants. Pittsburgh shelled Houston 10-2 while the Mets nipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-5 for a doubleheader split after losing a 3-0 three-hitter to Don Drysdale in the opener.

In Flashy Start

Estelle, under the gun in his major league debut, checked the Phils on one run through six innings, bowing out for a pinch hitter after Jose Pagan's two-run homer in the seventh gave the Giants a 3-1 spread.

Richie Allen touched reliever O'Dell for a leadoff single in the eighth and trotted home ahead of Thomas, who hit his ninth homer and sixth since joining Philadelphia. One out later, Gus Triandos doubled and scored the go-ahead run when Callison, batting seventh for the first time this year, singled to center for his 84th RBI.

Callison rode home on a single by Ruben Amaro and reliever Jack Baldschun's squeeze bunt. Baldschun then blanked the Giants over the last two innings.

Eddie Mathews' two-run homer off Joey Jay in the sixth gave Milwaukee's Cloninger all the runs he needed. The Braves right-hander didn't allow a runner past second base in boosting his record to 15-12.

Jay worked eight innings, giving up five hits and fanning 12, but lost his 10th game when Rico Carty singled in the sixth and Mathews clubbed his 22nd circuit.

Boyer connnected with two out in the ninth after the Cubs nailed Carl Warwick at the plate on Dick Groat's grounder. Warwick had singled and reached third on a sacrifice and Lou Brock's single. Boyer's 19th homer, off Fred Burdette, scored Brock and Groat and gave the Cardinal third baseman 100 RBI for the year.

Bill Mazeroski drove in four runs with a homer and two singles and Donn Clendenon delivered three with two triples and a single as the Pirates trampled the Colts for southpaw Bob Veale's 15th victory.

Three Mets crossed the plate on Tommy Davis' two-out misplay of Bobby Klaus' fly ball in the eighth, producing New York's second victory over the Dodgers in 13 season meetings. Trailing 5-2, the Mets put together four singles for one run before Klaus' drive went through the Los Angeles left fielder.

Gabel Against Sherlock

NEW YORK (AP)—Sherlock Holmes' malevolent foe, Prof. Moriarty, is to be depicted in "Baker Street" by Martin Gabel. The veteran actor makes his first appearance on the musical stage in the show that gets to Broadway in February.

Despite Injuries

Cup Captain Vic Seixas Sees No Panic Buttons

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Three weeks before the Davis Cup Challenge Round, the U. S. defenders are beset by problems and the challenging Australians are bursting with fresh confidence.

But Vic Seixas, the U. S. captain, is pushing no panic buttons yet.

"We have 21 days to go and we move to a new place and a new surface," the 41-year-old Cup veteran said today, referring to the shift from the grass of the National Championships to the slow clay in Cleveland Sept. 25-27.

The major problem surrounds Dennis Ralston who, with Chuck McKinley, helped wrest the silver trophy from the Aussies last year in Adelaide.

Ralston has a bum right ankle and is struggling to regain his lost touch.

"I'm playing lousy," the second - seeded Bakersfield, Calif., youth said after getting a third set default Friday from Terry Ryan of South Africa while leading 10-8, 6-3. "I just don't have my timing. If I don't improve, I won't last long."

Ryan, quit because he said he was choking from the intense heat. He was given first aid and sent to the locker room.

The other U.S. hope, McKinley, opened his bid for the national crown today against Francois Godbout of Canada. His play will be watched closely since he has had a rather disappointing season, so lack-lustre that he was seeded fourth behind Australian Roy Emerson, Ralson and defending champion Rafael Osuna of Mexico.

Emerson's teammate, Fred Stolle, the Wimbledon winner and runner-up, who is seeded fifth here, had a scare in the opening round Friday against 20-year-old Giordano Maioli of Italy, being forced five sets before winning 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

In a gruelling all-day program in suffocating heat which caused three players to default, advances were made by Osuna, seeded third, and Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy, No. 7. Osuna beat Claude De Grunckel of Belgium, 6-4, 6-4, 6-2. Pietrangeli won over Alain Bresson of France, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

Los Angeles Sees Gambling Problem in New Card Craze

By RALPH DIGHTON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — This city of fads has a new craze: an easy-to-learn card game which offers the house a take of $10,000 a day. Police fear it may give organized gambling a legal foothold in California and many other states.

The game is called panguingue (pang-ging-gi), an import from the Philippines via Las Vegas, Nev. Its fans usually shorten the name to pan.

Pan clubs have sprung up in seven cities and several unincorporated areas of Los Angeles County this summer, and vice-squad officers so far and powerless to stop them.

Two court rulings this week opened the door even wider to pan club operators.

Arrest Prevented

Superior Court Judge Harold F. Collins issued temporary injunctions preventing Los Angeles and Santa Monica police from arresting members of clubs where the game is played.

His reasoning: Pan, never before widely played in this state, is not listed among the games specifically banned by California law.

Appeals are under way, but in the meantime police expect pan clubs to mushroom, reaping millions of dollars pending final determination.

Pan uses eight decks of cards, with each of five to eight players being dealt 10 cards per hand. The object, as in rummy, is to meld or lay down runs of cards. Each player antes a chip worth 50 cents or more, depending on table rules, and the pot goes to the player who lays

Large Hay Barn Razed by Flames On Astor Estate

A large barn on the Vincent Astor estate on River Road, Rhinecliff, was destroyed by fire early today, despite efforts of volunteer firemen from Rhinebeck and Rhinecliff companies.

Three cows owned by Ankony Farms escaped from the burning building. The barn had been used by Ankony Farms for the storage of hay.

Two volunteer firemen were injured, one stepped on a nail and the other was treated for eye injury caused by chemicals. The origin of the fire was not determined.

Skater at 10 Months

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Roger Beutel is quite a sight when he goes rollicking along on his rollerskates. He's only 10 months old.

Roger, whose mother says he began walking with help at two weeks, tried out his older sister's skates Friday.

"We'll buy him a pair of his own pretty soon if he keeps on going this way," said his father, Stuart Beutel.

Chile's Election Of Frei Relief To United States

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials greeted with relief and delight today the landslide victory of Sen. Eduardo Frei in Chile's presidential election.

They had feared that a comparable win by Frei's chief rival, Communist-backed Salvador Allende, could have led to a bigger setback to democracy and gain for communism in this hemisphere than the Red takeover of Cuba.

Frei is leftist by U.S. standards. But he has avowed a pro-West pro-U.S. foreign policy and a domestic reform program that relies on democratic methods.

Allende, an avowed Marxist, campaigned on an anti - U.S. pro-Castro Communist foreign policy. At home, he wanted to socialize the economy, including seizure of the big U.S. copper firms there.

Frei's triumph apparently assures that Chile will continue to be a prominent member of the inter-American system and a supporter of the Alliance for Progress program of social and economic reforms with U.S. aid. The candidate supports both policies.

The United States is assisting Chile at the rate of $150 million a year.

New Berlin Waits Hopefully for Water Equipment

NEW BERLIN, N.Y. (AP)— Residents in this village between Binghamton and Utica waited today for emergency equipment while they wondered how long their water supplies would hold out.

The village of 1,200 has been declared a diaster area because of an acute water shortage brought about by leaks in ancient water mains and a four-month drought. Restaurants have been directed not to serve water to customers and the only public laundromat has been ordered closed.

Sheriff Joseph Benonati of Chenango County declared the village a disaster area and said Friday he had been promised civil defense equipment to pump and pipe water.

The Sheffield Milk Co., also has come to the villagers' aid by granting permission to draw water from two abandoned wells. Engineers estimate the wells will supply 150 gallons a minute.

The sheriff estimates the mains are leaking 120 gallons a minute. And the village normally uses about 200 gallons a minute. Engineers are trying to locate the leaks.

The fire departments of New Berlin and neighboring South New Berlin have established an emergency pumping station at the nearby Unadilla River to provide fire protection.

Springs that normally supply the village with its water supply are drying up because of the drought.

The springs flow into two settling basins with a combined capacity of 150,000 gallons.

Motel Is Destroyed By Fire Upstate

LAKE GEORGE, N.Y. (AP) —A fast-moving fire early today destroyed the Mohican Motel, about five miles south of this resort village forcing about 35 persons to flee.

The Warren County Sheriff's Department said no one was injured.

A sheriff's deputy said the department was investigating to determine the cause of the fierce blaze.

Walter Osborne, the motel owner, said it would take him some time to determine the extent of his loss.

The fire broke out as hundreds of persons jammed this village for the Labor Day weekend.

Firemen from five Lake George area departments battled the flames.

A school in Hartford, Conn., is attended by blind children from 68 communities in the state.

McCoys Dress Up For New Video Shows This Fall

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — You'd scarcely recognize those scroungy "Real McCoys" in their new shows for the coming television season.

Grandpa McCoy — Walter Brennan — has changed his overalls for the fancy duds of a millionaire financier in "Tycoon."

Luke McCoy — Richard Crenna — will be playing a clean-cut, Ivy league-clothes state legislator in "Slattery's People."

And Kate McCoy — Kathy Nolan — will be shipshape and clean-tailored as a wartime WAVE in "Broadside."

Our subject today is Miss Nolan, and the difference in her is more than a change of costume. For one thing, she has dropped 35 pounds from her top "McCoy" weight, down to a slender 97. And there's a new exuberance which she didn't posssess during the latter stages of her five-year run in "Real McCoys."

Kathy plays a Navy lieutenant, leader of a group of WAVEs sent to a Pacific Island to take over a motor pool. It has been called the female counterpart of "McHale's Navy," from the same Universal City stable, and indeed the two shows will share some backgrounds. Kathy is carrying the heaviest load of the show on her slim but sturdy shoulders.

"I am just about in every page of each script except for about seven - eights of one page,," she said. "'I was talking to Dick Crenna on the phone the other day and we both had to laugh.

"When we were in the 'McCoys,' we were always complaining about how we were always in the background and how we never got the laugh lines. Now he and I are doing shows in which we're in every shot, and we're looking for ways to get less to do!"

But she's not really complaining. Even though she has been in and out of the hospital and the divorce court, she has worked at a steady clip. The fact that she has a share of the series' profits helps maintain her enthusiasm.

ABC has indicated more than the usual preseason optimism about "Broadside," and Kathy is hopeful of a long run.

Ireland's famous "Book of Kells" was written and drawn by hand in 700 A.D. and contains four gospels from the Bible.

Bonn Thinks Agreement Chance Slight

Khrush Likely to Stress Peace, Trade on Trip to West Germany

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP) — During his forthcoming trip to West Germany, Premier Khrushchev is expected to make strong pitches on two fronts.

The first is political and would involve promoting the Kremlin's long-cherished plan for a World War II peace treaty that would formalize the division of Germany.

The West German government would not agree to any such treaty, but Khrushchev may attempt to make his proposals more tempting by moving over to the economic front and offering lucrative trade deals.

The West German economy depends heavily on exports, and trade deals with the vast, underdeveloped Soviet Union always have tempted Ruhr industrialists.

Chance Very Slight

But diplomatic observers in Bonn Thursday night were saying the prospect of any major agreement with Khrushchev is very slight.

They did voice some apprehension that Khrushchev might try to play West Germany off against France on the question of trade with the Soviet Union. France, in order to get Soviet orders for expensive chemical factories, is reportedly ready to grant the Soviets long - term credits.

The Western Allies have had a long-standing policy of keeping such credits down to five-year terms or less, but the French are reportedly ready to jump the traces.

West Germany, on the other hand, remains under closer American control and its trade negotiators would be under strong pressure not to grant long-term credits.

DeGaulle Message

Diplomatic observers in Bonn also noted that Khrushchev's visit was announced at a time of a further cooling in French-West German relations. President Charles de Gaulle's World War II anniversary message to Khrushchev earlier this week caused some uneasiness among officials of the West German government.

To them, the tone of the De Gaulle message seemed unusually cordial. Some West German officials fear De Gaulle might further modify his support of the Allied position on the Berlin question and the German problem in general.

As for the visit's effect on Soviet-West German relations, diplomatic observers in Moscow felt Khrushchev had in mind something more than just a vague hope for improvement of relations.

Expected After Election

It was noted that during his current visit to Czechoslovakia, Khrushchev had unexpected conferences with the foreign ministers of Poland, Hungary and Bulgaria. This led to immediate speculation that he might be consulting them about some possible switch in the Kremlin's policy toward Germany.

Details for the visit still must be arranged. It is expected that the visit will come after the U.S. presidential election Nov. 3.

To Test County Sirens Monday

The county-wide fire siren tests held the first Monday of each month will be conducted at 8 p. m. Monday by Ulster County Fire Control Center, Golden Hill.

Sirens in all firehouses in the county, except Kingston are activated from the control center and a roll taken to determine if sirens in all firehouses are operative.

Winfred Snyder is county coordinator.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Suspense mounted during the week with Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers deadlocked over a new labor contract.

At the same time the threat of a railroad strike was deferred.

Next Wednesday is the deadline for agreement or strike in the Chrysler-UAW negotiations.

So far there has been little if any progress reported.

The union picked Chrysler as its No. 1 target. That means that if there is no agreement a strike will be called against Chrysler. But General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. will be able to go on turning out 1965 models.

But Not the Present

Chrysler negotiators sang "Happy Birthday" to UAW President Walter P. Reuther but they didn't come up with the present he was looking for — a sweetened offer.

The automakers contended that their original offer of a pay raise of 18 to 36 cents an hour, earlier retirement and improved fringe benefits was the best they had ever made. The union said it was completely unacceptable in view of the company's record profits.

There were rumors that enough progress was being made in negotiations so that President Johnson could announce a settlement when he opens his election campaign with a Labor Day rally in Detroit.

Reuther said there was "no foundation in fact" to such speculation.

Rail Strike Averted

The threat of a strike by 11 scheduled for Sept. 6 was averted when a special presidential emergency board took over. The group will report its findings to President Johnson on Sept. 18.

The upsetting possibility of an automobile strike came at a usually optimistic time for business — Labor Day. This holiday is almost another New Year's Day for business, a date denoting the end of the summer slack season and advent of the livelier fall period.

This year, however, the summer doldrums were not as pronounced as usual.

On this subject, the First National City Bank of New York commented: "During July and August further expansion in the U.S. economy created a broad base for substantial increases in the normally active fall months. The vacation time letdown was less than usual this summer.

More Orders Come

"The seasonally adjusted gain in industrial production was widely distributed. In July, the backlog of orders on the books of durable goods manufacturers rose sharply to record levels. Retail sales set new records."

With plants getting into full production of 1965 models, auto output during the week climbed to an estimated 126,900 passenger cars from 92,098 the previous week and 66,949 a year ago.

Steel production posted its fourth consecutive weekly gain, going to 2,414,000 tons during the week, up nearly 1 per cent from the previous week.

Demand for steel from the automakers continued high. Steel industry sources said indications were that a strike threat would not deter the auto companies from building up inventories.

In the first seven months of this year, the sensitive economic barometer — new machine tool orders — totaled $851.1 million, up 66 per cent from the like period of 1963.

The nation's unemployment rate rose in August to 5.1 per cent of the labor force from 4.9 per cent in July because, said the Labor Department, of persistent unemployment among teen-agers.

Special Season For Bear Slated In Adirondacks

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A special 10-day bear season in six Adirondack counties was designated today by the State Conservation Department.

The season, from Oct. 2 to 11th, is in addition to the regular bear season in the Northern zone of the state, Oct. 25 to Dec. 1.

Legislation enacted in 1963 enables the department to "establish a pre-season hunt to help reduce nuisance problems caused by bears scavenging for food near populated areas."

The season will be held in Clinton, Essex, Franklin, Hamilton, and Warren counties and in the "party permit" section of St. Lawrence County, where hunters with a party permit may take deer during the deer season.

Special permits will be required during the 10-day season, the department said. They will be available Sept. 16 at all Conservation Department offices or, by mail, through the offices in Raybrook, Watertown and Warrensburg.

During a similar 10-day season last year, 7,369 hunters killed 127 black bears.
